Raffroad company. The building is located in the 400 block on South Colorado street. Slight damage was done. Investigation revealed that this fire had been started with a bunch of dry grass which had been used as tinder.

With the report of the third incendiary fire, Chief of Police Burns ordered out every available member of the police department and the entire neighborhood in the vicinity of the fire was patrolled. The men were ordered to keep a close lookout for suspicious looking characters and to arrest anyone who seemed to be prowling around in alleys and deserted parts of the streets.

Shortly after the third fire, a blaze was noticed in the rear of the West Side livery stable and a man living near by put out the flames with an old broom. The police were notified and an investigation was made.

The fifth fire was at the plant of the Citizens fire company. The firemen had placed a bucket filled with cold water against the wall of the storehouse and set fire to it. This fire was investigated by Chief of Police Burns and Commissioner Lawton, who were passing in an automobile. The blaze was extinguished by men who were working near by.

Coal Yards Saved.

The sixth blaze was at the Tudor Coal company's yards south of Vermijo street and the railroad tracks. There was no damage, a small pile of kindling having been set afire.

Finnegan was arrested at a restaurant on East Huergino street, where he had gone to wash his hands. He was nervous and was taken into custody by Sergeant Fred Springer. At police headquarters Finnegan said he had come from Wheeling, W. Va. When questioned by a Gazette reporter, he said:

It was discovered that it had been started by a pile of dried rags which had been placed against the outer wall.

Fire Chief Martin ran his machine into a ditch near the scene of the fire and narrowly escaped injury. The machine was not damaged.

Grass Used as Tinder.

The third fire, which occurred about 6 o'clock, was in an old ice house owned by the Denver &amp; Rio Grande

Early in the series of fires, the police notified the owners of every large building in the threatened district, and as soon as possible, men were placed to guard the property. The fire in the Tudor yards was started a short distance from these detectives, who sat only a few hundred feet away when they first saw the glare of the flame.

The work of the firemen in fighting the flames was handicapped. At the first fire, a hose of hose was attached to a fire hydrant at the foot of the viaduct, but the water failed to pour out as the hydrant was out of order. The hose was then attached to a hydrant a block south, and this required many minutes. No sooner had the firemen got the water to running from this hydrant than a street car ran over the hose and cut it in two.

It was then necessary to shut off the water and replace the cut length of hose with a new one which bursted when subjected to the pressure of the water. The fire had gained such headway when the water finally reached it that it was beyond control.

SEN. LEWIS 'OFFERED'
FINDELL RUSSIAN POSTStipulated, However, That He Must Resign October 1, 1914; Latter Gets Ambassadorship.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—A misunderstanding threatened to develop today between James Hamilton Lewis, United States senator for Illinois, and Henry M. Findell of Peoria, Ill., in connection with the publication of a letter, said to have been from Senator Lewis, offering Mr. Findell the post of ambassador to Russia, with the proviso that he hold the portfolio only one year.

Mr. Findell, who was certified to Washington by Russia today as persona grata, said at his Peoria office that the published letter had never been received by him. Senator Lewis, while not denying that he had written the letter to Mr. Findell, said:

"If Mr. Findell says that he did not receive the letter he must be right. I have with me no copies of my correspondence with him."

In the letter, which was published, Senator Lewis saluted the prospective ambassador as "Dear Findell," and offered him the post, with the provision that he relinquish it October 1, 1914.

tailed three large losses from safe robberies. Six years ago, his office was broken into and the safe he used then—a very small one—was taken, along with a vault lock near by and broken open with a sledge hammer. Several hundred dollars was stolen.

Large crowds visited the Huergino street fires as the glare could be seen from a great distance. The streets near the fires were blocked with automobiles.

The Brazilian police stepped in, however, and their motor launch interrupted what on which the young Americans were proceeding to the Vestris. They were taken ashore and held before a magistrate, accused of violating a contract. Fortunately, Mrs. Roosevelt had given Miss Waddell a note to the American minister and official intervention by the consul in person, which the note brought about, ultimately resulted in a dismissal of the case. Thereupon the girls took passage on the Vestris, on which they arrived here tonight. Miss Waddell lives in this city and Miss Shore in Chicago.

in regard to the solution of the situation are still far apart.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Notwithstanding intimations that Provisional

President Huerta would refuse to resign, administration officials said tonight that his elimination would be accomplished, "in one way or another."

They asserted that every opportunity would be given him to retire peaceably and that drastic steps would be avoided, if possible.

A development of the day was a call

sent by President Wilson for members of the senate foreign relations committee; Republicans as well as Democrats.

He had Senators Stone and Swanson with him for an hour, and expects to discuss the subject individually with other members within the next two or three days. He is in constant communication with Senator

Bacon, chairman of the committee,

who early in the day had a long conference with Secretary Bryan.

The Georgian said tonight that while he was not at liberty to discuss his talk with Secretary Bryan in detail,

he could state that there had been no change in the fixed purpose of the United States to have Huerta eliminated from the situation, and that it would be done, though every effort would be made to avoid extreme measures.

Two Courses Open.

In the view of many officials who anticipate a revolution by Huerta in the American demands, only two courses are open to the United States

either to complicate the situation directly or to throw its moral support with the constitutionalists in their fight to obtain possession of the government in Mexico City.

GOVERNOR ASKS AD

I made an arrangement with the state clearing house and other of the state to cash these certificates of indebtedness on presentation at par, with interest at 4 per cent per annum. The law makes it the duty of the state auditor with the approval of the governor and the attorney general to issue these certificates of indebtedness and the additional duty of the auditor to report them to the two sessions of the general assembly, that their payment may be provided for.

The National guard found a large barbed territory in the southern part of this state, there being great numbers of armed men in a state of war, which the local authorities were utterly unable to control.

The National guard has the situation partially settled at the present time, and its withdrawal from the state would mean only a return to condition worse than before the day was called off, and therefore, it would be a crime against the peace of the state.

The militia is to be kept in the field, they must be paid and supplied with money. Money can be had, but it is some official can delay, by his arbitrary will a most vital function of government to the danger of the good name the credit and the honor of our state and the unnecessary loss to our taxpayers. I must appeal to the patriotism of our business men, however humiliating it may be to carry these accounts until the necessary test cases can be put through the courts. I realize that in times of great industrial strife, people for business and other reasons are loath to take part. I am willing to take all the responsibility in this matter but I must have the assistance of the patriotic, law-abiding people of this state if I am able to restore peace and protect life and property.

In conclusion I wish to say that the military department is instructed to, and will, perform its duties in restoring peace and order in the affected districts independent of either party to this dangerous industrial conflict.

It is conceded that it is my duty to restore and enforce order. It must be conceded, also, that in emergency measures must be furnished to support such action. It is equally clear that the very fabric of efficient government is useless without financial support. The constitution authorizes indebtedness on occasions of this kind, the statutes provide how much indebtedness shall be incurred and paid. The duty of enforcement of the law falls upon the governor alone, but under the present situation the auditor by refusing to issue the certificates of indebtedness not only thwarts the very purposes of the law but renders ineffective the power of the government.

Urge Economy.

I have instructed and will see that the military department be careful in its expenditures so that the strictest economy shall be practiced, commensurate with efficient work and that it perform its duty with absolute impartiality. I have asked the auditor's assistance in planning the bills contracted to see that the state shall have a due receipt for every dollar of indebtedness incurred. By the arrangement with the banks and business men we are at the beginning in position to buy upon a cash basis. The only difficulty we have had been the threatened danger that the auditor would not issue the certificates while the administration is in position pending the action of the courts of justice, we may not be in a position to do this unless the business men of the state, leaders of the credit and banks to protect the auditor in his willingness to tighten the necessary supplies until this case is determined in the courts.

LUKE TERRY, VICTIM OF AMBUSH, COLLEGE YOUTH

Spring Boy Drove Auto During Summer and Expected to Return to School in January

Luke Terry, who was one of the four men in an automobile shot from ambush yesterday afternoon near Oakview, was a student at Colorado College last year, and well known in Colorado Springs. He was a member of the local chapter of the Kappa Sigma fraternity and played tackle on the freshman football team last fall.

Terry was driving the machine, taking three deputies to Oakview to rescue Bryan. Terry did not return to school in September, but planned to take up his work in the local institution again in January. He took an active part in the activities of the freshman class, and lived at the Kappa Sigma fraternity house which was at 224 East Cache in Poudre street last year.

Harry E. Bryan, one of the deputies killed in the ambuscade, was the son of Captain W. C. Bryan, trainer of the School of Mines football team and well-known here. Captain Bryan received notice of his son's death after yesterday's game in Denver, while he was checking up accounts with Professors R. H. Metten and J. W. Park.

AMMONS MAY CALL

where they joined their comrades. The death of the fourth man occurred this morning at Aguilar while a non-union miner was being escorted by the town marshal away from strikers who had assaulted him. The non-union miner was killed by bullets from ambuscade, and a bystander, Mike Guerillo, was shot through the left eye. He is said to be mortally hurt.

Man Severely Beaten.

At the McLaughlin mine, property of J. E. McLaughlin, brother-in-law of Governor Ammons, Herbert Smith, secretary to Mr. McLaughlin, tonight was beaten almost to death by four strikers. He suffered a broken nose, a lacerated eye and concussion of the brain. Fears were expressed for his recovery.

Strikers at Starkville tonight set upon and badly beat two nonunion miners employed there. It is denied that four militia recruits were kidnapped and deported by strikers, as was reported early tonight.

This morning strikers attacked the militia camp at Forbes, shooting into the farmhouse. Troopers returned the fire. No one was reported injured.

Governor Ammons tonight determined to establish martial government for the entire state if State Auditor Kenahan continues to refuse approval of the certificates of indebtedness to maintain the troops in the strike zone. A supreme court mandamus has been sought against the auditor and this failing, according to the governor, he will, by virtue of his first proclamation of the disordered state of Colorado, oust the auditor from office under military rule. Merchants in Denver today refused to honor the certificates of indebtedness for the purchase of clothing for the troops.

Four Killed.

TRINIDAD, Nov. 8.—Four dead and two mortally wounded is the toll of the worst day experienced in the strike district.

At La Veta where Captain of the Guards Harry T. Bryan of Denver had gone to have some dental work done, he was surrounded by strikers and made an appeal by telephone to Superintendent John Jones, who sent a car containing Deputies Whitten, Gamby and Rogers and Chauffeur Luke Terry. They rescued Bryan and had proceeded over the hill toward Oakview when, from behind a reservoir 15 men supposed to be strikers, opened fire, killing Bryan, Whitten and Carey. Gamby was shot through the hip and arm and Rogers received a flesh wound through the right arm.

Rogers, at the opening of the fire, ran to a farm house, where he telephoned Superintendent Jones for assistance. Deputies were loaded into an automobile and succeeded in rescuing Gamby, but the dead had to be left, and at a late hour tonight their bodies had not been recovered. The 15 men, after the killing, boldly shouldered their arms and marched to Walsenburg, where they mingled with the strikers, defying arrest.

Young Terry, who was driving the car of deputies, was an innocent party, and died at the steering wheel of the machine.

Four Men Arrested.

Captain Swoop, under the command of Major Townsend, has been instructed by General Chase to arrest every striker implicated in the killing of the three deputies at La Veta.

Lieutenant Finch and nine men have returned from scouring the hills near Starkville for the four men who attacked Herbert Smith, the clerk at the McLaughlin mine, and captured them and they will be ordered by General Chase, turned over to the sheriff of Las Animas county with the understanding that they be given a speedy trial. They are now held at the military camp.

If this is not done, General Chase states that he will take matters in his own hands as to the dealing with any other prisoners arrested.

A house to house, tent to tent, and store to store canvass revealed 11 rifles, 16 revolvers and three shotguns which were confiscated by the militia.

Forty-one recruits joined the militia here yesterday and 17 today.

TRADES COUNCIL

ered by the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce at the regular meeting this week. The communication follows:

November 8, 1913.

Mr. A. W. Henderson,

instructions that I, as secretary, forward same to you for your early consideration and answer.

Thanking you in advance and awaiting your reply, I am

Very truly yours,

H. A. THOMPSON

Secretary, Federated Trades Council.

Whereas, The present existing controversy between the coal miners and their employers is being needlessly prolonged and embittered by the refusal of the coal operators to confer with the chosen representatives of their employees, and

Whereas, We believe one of the most important duties of our central community is to promote the general welfare of all our people and that the purpose

forth every possible effort in endeavoring to bring about a settlement of the industrial warfare now being inflicted on the people of this state, and to

WINTER WEATHER ADDS TO POPULARITY OF LIBRARY

Attendants Note Increase in Number of Patrons—Report Issued for Last Two Months

With the cessation of the out-in-the-open activities of summer, and the arrival of long winter evenings and hearth fires, the reading of books and magazines becomes a popular pastime. Already the work of the public library attendants has materially increased and the number of readers in the general newspaper and magazine room is daily increasing. The report of Lucy W. Baker, librarian, for September and October has just been issued, and shows many new books added to the shelves during that period. The report in full follows:

Report for September and October

Total home circulation	16,190
Circulation of children's books	3,418
Daily average circulation	330
Pictures issued to schools and clubs	248
Traveling libraries sent out in country	9

Despondency Due to Indigestion.

It is not at all surprising that persons who have indigestion become discouraged and hopeless. Here are a few words of hope and cheer for them by Mrs. Blanche Bowers, Indiana, Pa.

For years my digestion was so poor that I could only eat the lightest foods. I tried everything that I heard of to get relief, but not until about a year ago when I saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised and got a bottle of them did I find the right treatment. I soon began to improve and since taking a few bottles of them my digestion is fine. For sale by all dealers.

POSTOFFICE PLANS TO EDUCATE THE PUBLIC

Will Launch Campaign to Correct Evil of Incomplete Addresses on All Mail Matter

An active campaign against the delay and impracticability of mail will be carried on by the post department, according to a resolution by the local office. It is to be educated in the minds of the public in the matter of their responsibility in preventing the growing evil of incomplete addresses. It will be a battle to enlighten the public through the press and by placards and posters.

According to statements from Washington, the offices all over the country are troubled with many undeliverable letters and packages. Much mail is frequently delayed and often impossible by the omission of important parts of the address such as the street number or room number when addressed to an office building. Often the name of the street is omitted only the postoffice and station given.

Another trouble is the practice of giving the address at the intersection of two streets, without giving the direction of the corner. At certain corners of an intersection it is difficult for different carriers to determine which route is easily seen.

Carelessness Increasing.
The statement received here from the department states that carelessness on the part of the public in addressing mail is increasing, and is, no doubt, aided by the practice of the department in suspending deficient addresses. It says that the only way to remedy the evil is for each individual to see that all mail originating with him shall be correctly addressed. It also hints that the education of the public would be made materially easier if all letter heads were printed with the complete street or office address. In closing the order from headquarters says:

Patrons should bear in mind that street delivery is a specific address just the same as a postoffice box or street number, and that if mail does not bear a specific address, it must be thrown to the directory division of the office for search of the proper address, which involves a delay of from several hours to a day or more. Every article mailed should bear the return address of the sender.

Last year more than 15,000,000 pieces of mail matter were sent to the dead letter office a large proportion of which could not be delivered because of carelessness in writing the address.

Federal Grand Jury Issues Warning Note

P. J. Schubert of Pueblo foreman of the Pueblo federal grand jury investigating the coal strike in southern Colorado yesterday issued the following statement relative to publishing notices concerning the work of the jury:

Because of numerous articles which have appeared in various papers of the state as stories of the federal grand jury investigation of the coal strike—stories which tend to inflame rather than to better the situation, the federal grand jury by unanimous vote has instructed me to issue this warning note to the attention of the managing editors of the leading newspapers of the state, the fact that the present federal grand jury has jurisdiction in the coal strike is being conducted by the department of justice and that, of course, it is to be a just investigation, but before the jury adjourns, a notable opportunity will be given every operator striking miners and union officials to present every phase of the situation and that questions to be asked them will bring out all the information in their possession.

The grand jury also instructed me to warn the editors of the various state papers that any article that tends to discredit the United States district attorney or the federal grand jury will meet with immediate attention.

The grand jury will meet with immediate attention, and the grand jury will be given every opportunity to present every phase of the situation and that questions to be asked them will bring out all the information in their possession.

A CLERGYMAN'S EXPERIENCE

Come Near Losing His Life...How He Escaped.

The following letter was received by The Peruna Co., from Rev. G. W. Roberts, R. R. 2, Box 27, Hartsell, Alabama, under date of April 2, 1904, which is exactly nine years ago. He says I take pleasure in informing you of what your Peruna has done for me after three years of suffering. I had tried the treatments of several doctors, also home remedies, but they failed and all hope had gone. My friends told me myself, thought I was in the last stages of consumption.

"My daughter brought me a bottle of Peruna and plead with me to try it. I had got so weak I had lost my voice and I thought it no use. That was in May, 1902. I began to take it, according to directions. I wrote to you, and you gave me your kind advice."

"I soon felt better, my cough began to give way, and the expectoration lessened. I have taken fourteen bottles. I feel well, eat heartily, sleep soundly, weigh as much as I ever did. do considerable work on my farm, and attend to my other business. My friends seem astonished at my recovery."

"I wish to thank you for your kind advice and the books you have sent me. I shall ever praise your medicine and hope that you may enjoy a long life."

It will be observed that Rev. Roberts waited two years after he began to use Peruna, before he wrote the above letter to The Peruna Co. So that his apparent recovery could not possibly have been temporary relief.

In a later letter to The Peruna Co. dated September 22, 1906, Rev. Roberts says: "I am a great friend of Peruna. By the use of Dr. Hartman's advice I am here to-day able to be with my family and attend to my business."

BLACK DOCTOR FAILS TO GET APPOINTMENT

Love and Hard Work Conducive to Long Life

LONDON, Nov. 8.—Mrs. Rebecca Law, an old-age pensioner of Little Chesterfield, Essex, who recently celebrated her hundredth birthday, was left a widow at 42, with seven children under 14. By working in the fields for farmers, by sack mending and washing for the farmers' wives she brought up her family.

She toiled until she was 70 when she was admitted to one of Lord Maybrooke's almshouses on the Audley End estate, where she remained until she was 90.

Asked to what she attributed her good health and long life, Mrs. Law said: "Hard work, my dear, and happy with it. No woman has worked harder than I have, and I was never happier than when at work. I love everybody. If I did not I should not have lived so long."

Another member exclaimed:

"Because he happens to be a black man, I move that the second candidate be invited to attend."

The first member admitted that the colored doctor's professional qualifications were higher than those of the white man, but he contended that patients among Negroes would refuse to be attended by a colored doctor.

The English doctor was appointed.

CHARITIES PLANS MANY THANKSGIVING DINNERS

Plans are rapidly being completed by the Associated Charities for the annual Thanksgiving work among the poor of the city. With the aid of the food offering given each year by the public school children and the private contributions of individuals, this organization provides many needy families with dinners on the day of Thanksgiving.

Last year more than 150 families were visited. The Associated Charities is starting plans early this year so that contributors may turn in their offerings some time before Thanksgiving day and thus give those in charge some idea ahead of time as to how many families they will be able to take care of.

The annual offering of the school children will be taken up Friday, November 21. According to the officers of the Associated Charities they could not help nearly so many families at Thanksgiving time if it were not for this offering by the children. A child seems to be too poor to bring his mite.

Last year there was a destitute family in the city in which there were four children. The little eight year-old boy of this family took his offering of a single turnip from a supply that had been previously given to the family by the Associated Charities. Each year the children bring to the schools enough good things including potatoes, turnips, apples, jellies, canned goods and the like, to feed nearly 100 families.

No meat of any kind, however, is brought in with the gifts of the school children. The Associated Charities depends on private contributions for this part of the dinners. In previous years an attempt has been made to supply with turkey all families in which there were small children. Small families composed chiefly of elderly people were given a chicken. The association is always glad to receive contributions of any kind as all are useful in supplying the large number of people which the Associated Charities has on its lists.

It is not necessary for us to add any words to this story. The eloquence and pathos of these letters are more convincing than arguments or affidavits. Who can doubt the clergyman's story? Who can doubt that Peruna saved his life?

Every home should be provided with the last edition of the "Ills of Life," sent free by the Peruna Co., Columbus, Ohio.

WOMAN APPEARS PLEASED WHEN AIGRETTE GOES

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—When Mr. and Mrs. John G. Glover of Kansas City, Mo. arrived from Liverpool on the Franconia today the customs inspector confiscated a heron aigrette on Mrs. Glover's hat.

"It's a mighty good law and I'm glad it was passed," said Mrs. Glover to the officers when they explained the reason for their action. Four other passengers parted with their aigrettes.

A tight feeling in the chest accompanied by a short, dry cough, indicates an inflamed condition in the lungs. To relieve it buy the dollar size BAL-LARD'S HOREHOUND SYRUP; you get with each bottle a free HERRICK'S RED PEPPER POROUS PLASTER for the chest. The syrup relaxes the tightness and the plaster draws out the inflammation. It is an ideal combination for curing colds settled in the lungs. Sold by all druggists.

Mayor Plans Playground for East Side Kiddies

In Near Future.

Mayor Charles L. McKesson has a plan by which a playground will be established near Prospect lake to be beautified for recreation spot in near future.

The playground on the shore of the southwest side of the lake, where there are a great many trees and installations, sandboxes and other apparatus dear to the hearts of children. The plan will include the construction of an automobile boulevard entirely around the lake, and it is probable that Commissioner Lawton will take a force of men at this work early January. Mayor McKesson, as head of the water department, is taking much interest in furnishing the children living near Prospect lake with place for recreation.

Captures Marten

George Osborne, a rancher, living 23 miles east of here, has caught the male marten or marten which he caught several days ago and brought town for identification. The animals are an extremely elongated body covered with soft brown fur and are about a foot in length. The male first captured had red eyes. The animals thought had red eyes. The animals' holes were found in a town occupied by prairie dogs.

Woman Escapes Operation

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I found myself a terrible sufferer. I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached; I had no appetite and was so weak I could not sleep, then I would tire easily. I could scarcely move or do a bit of work and I thought I never would be any better unless I submitted to an operation. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a woman. I had no pains, slept well, had good appetite and was fat and almost all my own work for a while of four. I shall always feel Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write Lydia E. Pinkham's Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened and answered by a woman held in strict confidence.

Gillespie Held on Bad Check Charge

Mrs. Pankhurst Not Coming to Springs

Alleged to have passed a number of worthless checks on local business houses. Raymond A. Gillespie, a young man who has been employed by several firms here, was arrested by city detectives yesterday on a charge of forgery. It is alleged that on October 21, Gillespie bought $6 worth of furs at Stetson's, giving a check for the amount on the Exchange National Bank, signing the name of Richard Gilpin. The check proved to be worthless, as did others said to have been cashed by Gillespie.

After it had been learned that several worthless checks had appeared, the police instituted a search for Gillespie, who had left the city. The furs were recovered from a young woman for whom Gillespie had given them, and yesterday it was learned that the young man had returned to Colorado Springs.

The police have several checks that they say will be connected with Gillespie, among them being one for $5.50 cashed by the California Fruit and Grocery store on Nevada avenue, one for $4.50 cashed by M. K. Myers, and one for $1.50 cashed by the Park bakery. None of the checks was good, and the detectives say they believe Gillespie cashed many others here.

County Jail Inmates Will Be Segregated

By a decision made yesterday by the county commissioners, the youthful prisoners of the county jail will be segregated from the more hardened types of criminals by having a vacant space on the second floor of the jail fitted up with cells to accommodate the older men, thus leaving the lower floor for those less experienced in crime.

The cost of alterations will not be more than $700, and it is believed the result will be of benefit to the juvenile and less-hardened class of offenders. The decision was reached as a result of the request by the county board of visitors that such arrangements be made.

Carload of Autos Just Received

Mr. Stephens of the Rouse-Stephens Auto company has just returned from the Buick factory where he made arrangements for the shipment of a carload of Buick autos every week, the first of this shipment being received this morning.

In the shipment was the big powerful Buick commercial car which is now on display at the Rouse-Stephens show room, 119 North Cascade avenue. Mr. Stephens invites all who are interested to inspect this truck.

January 1st will have a load of not less than 100 autos shipped to them. This will be the largest single consignment of cars ever received by any Colorado Springs dealer.

Brotherhood to Attend Y. M. C. A. Lobby Meeting

The members of the Federated Brotherhood of Colorado Springs have been asked to attend the meeting for men in the lobby of the Y. M. C. A. this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock to hear the talk by the Rev. S. E. Brewster and Evangelist R. B. Pratt. The executive committee of the brotherhood will hold a session immediately after the meeting. Mr. and Mrs. Booth will sing a duet and E. W. Munson will sing a solo.

The brotherhood at its last regular meeting voted unanimously to give its hearty support to the evangelistic meetings now being held in this city under the direction of the Rev. E. B. Pratt.

Will Explain Miners' Side of Coal Strike

Public invited to Mass Meeting to be held at Opera House Tuesday Evening.

To place before the general public of Colorado Springs the miners' side of the present coal strike from the southern Colorado fields, several miners and state labor officials will address a mass meeting in the Opera House Tuesday night under the auspices of the Colorado State Federation of Labor and the Colorado Springs Federated Trades Council. The meeting will be free and everyone interested in the controversy is invited to attend.

The meeting there will be first one of the many to be held in the principal cities of Colorado during the next few days. It has been called, according to labor officials, to give the public a view of conditions as they actually exist. During the meeting the question of the state operating its own coal mines and other similar subjects pertaining to the industry will be discussed at length.

Among the speakers will be men of such importance in the labor world as John McLennan, president of the Colorado State Federation of Labor and president of District 15 of the United Mine Workers of America; W. T. Hickey, secretary-treasurer of the State Federation of Labor, and Frank J. Hayes, vice-president of the United Mine Workers of America. Others will deliver short addresses and the Miners' Club will furnish the music.

Congressman H. H. Solidomides, Mayor Charles L. McKesson, the city and county commissioners, board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce, Representatives Kavanaugh, Thomas and Persons and other prominent persons of Colorado Springs will occupy positions on the stage.

600 Auto Owners

local license taxes. This petition is signed by 604 citizens and taxpayers of Colorado Springs and vicinity who, we believe, is a large majority, in value of the taxable property in the city. We have no doubt that a very much larger number of signatures could have been obtained by proper effort, but think sufficient has been done to show the state of public sentiment on this subject.

We call your attention particularly to the fact that the petition is signed by very large taxpayers such as the Colorado Springs company, the Antlers Hotel company, the International Realty company and all the banks and public service corporations, who have no direct interest in avoiding a tax on motor vehicles but whose general taxes

are increased by the amount now added to the general levy. These tax-payers have, as we understand, signed the petition because they believe their interests as property owners in the city would be adversely affected by continuing this special tax, and any additional tax they may have to pay to make up for the loss of revenue from this special tax will be more than compensated for by increased prosperity of the community due to the elimination of an unjust discrimination against a particular class of property owners.

Other Cities Drop Tax.

We are informed that it is not the purpose of any other city in the state to impose or continue a special tax on motor vehicles during the coming year, and that if Colorado Springs continues this tax, it will be undoubtedly prominent in the only city in the state making this discrimination.

Continuing the tax will not only create a feeling of just treatment on the part of a large and important class of citizens but will discredit the city as an automobile tourist resort.

The Chamber of Commerce and this club have expended a good deal of effort for making Colorado Springs a great center for automobile touring.

DON'T SCOLD AN IRRITABLE CHILD

If little tongue is coated, surely give "California Syrup of Figs."

Mother! Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See, its tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has atom aches, diarrhea, remember a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Syrup of Figs" for children's ill. Give a tea-spoonful, and in a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a well and playful child again.

All children love this harmless, delicious "fruit laxative" and it never fails to effect a good "inside cleaning." Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on the bottle.

Keep it handy in your home. A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Counterfeits are being sold here. Don't be fooled! Adv.

LONDON HOSPITAL MAY HAVE AMERICAN WARD

LONDON, Nov. 8.—Enthusiastic support is being given to the project to establish an American ward in the London hospital. The idea is a good one, and is due, in large measure, to the initiative and aid of the Hon. Sidney Holland, who is president of the famous hospitals, which is the largest and best equipped in England. He was heartily seconded by a number of American peers and others who have interests of Americans away from home at heart, and whose prompt response to the appeal has set the seal on the success of the undertaking.

The full list is now to hand. It includes Lady Farran, Hon. Otto Beit, Sir Arthur Butler, Hon. Mrs. C. Coventry, Miss Pauline Chase, Lady Randolph Churchill, Mrs. A. J. Drexel, Countess of Essex, Mrs. Cornelius Garvan, Mallett Johnson, Lady Alastair Kerr, Mrs. Rudyard Kipling, Hon. Mrs. R. C. Lindley, Viscountess Malton, Lady Maxwell, Lady Maud, Lady Naylor-Leyland, the Lady vicar of Portaloach and Mrs. N. P. St. John.

King and Queen Very Sympathetic

LONDON, Nov. 8.—Few realize how deeply royal disasters involving the life affect King George and Queen Mary. There are always, of course, the royal messages of sympathy, but the majority of these are read by the public as merely formal announcements.

As a ruler, King George was deeply affected by the terrible Volturno disaster, and Queen Mary was even more so; by the awful coal mine tragedy in South Wales. Both of these calamities cast a gloom over Buckingham palace, and added to them was the fear of suffragette disturbances.

WABASH EARNED $31,000,584; HIRED CARS REDUCE PROFITS

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 8.—The twenty-fourth annual report of the Wabash railroad for the fiscal year ending June 30 has been issued here today.

The report shows gross revenues of $31,795,584.43 and operating expenses of $24,473,857.04, leaving as net operating revenue $7,326,227.39. The net profits of the road were $426,389.

Hire of equipment was a heavy item of expense, which President Delano says prevents a showing of normal profits.

SURVEY OF PERSIAN ROAD BEGINS SOON

British Syndicate Gets the Contract; Must be finished Next May

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The official survey party for the Mohammerah-Khoramabad railway, an agreement with regard to which was entered into between the Persian government and a British syndicate early in the year, is about to leave England.

The Persian railway syndicate has appointed Messrs. S. Pearson & Co. to carry out the survey with the least possible delay.

The survey has to be completed within 18 months, and as it is impossible to work in the summer it will probably be concluded by about the end of May next. The period for the survey, granted by the Persian government, is two years, at the end of which time the Persian government will decide whether to grant a concession or to build the railway itself by means of contracts.

The line of Khoramabad is regarded as of great importance for the development of Persia and for the placing of the internal affairs of that country on a more stable basis. The undertaking is expected to show a profit in the near future, as the line will develop large grain and other areas which have hitherto been untouched. It may be expected to divert a certain amount of traffic from the Bagdad line.

Khoramabad is the limit of the neutral sphere, but the proposed railway terminates at that place can be easily connected by caravan or subsequently by motor services or railway with Hamadan, in the Russian sphere. Khoramabad will only be about 60 miles from two projected Russian lines, concessions for which have already been obtained.

Epidemic of Women Motor Car Drivers Has Struck London

LONDON, Nov. 8.—London is at present suffering from an epidemic of women motor car drivers. Everyone thought that motor driving for women never was a very popular pastime, had quite gone out, when suddenly it has become the fashion. The Duchess of Westminster always drives herself now in a big, shiny car, and may often be seen coming up to town in her suburban retreat near Richmond, a smart chauffeur by her side to act in case of accidents. Miss Pauline Chase, the American actress, is another ardent motorist, and frequently threads her way, half through the busy Strand and down up to the Savoy grill room for lunch.

Many of the prominent militant suffragettes employ female drivers. Mrs. Patrick Lawrence's able-bodied son, at the wheel being a particularly well-known figure about the West End, and the fair taxicab driver threatens in the near future. Princess Mary while at Balmoral had some lessons from her brother, the Prince of Wales, who is a keen motorist, but the queen absolutely declines to hear of her taking up the sport seriously. A number of the chorus girls at the Gailey and Daly's theaters are expert drivers and can be met on Sundays on all the main roads leading out of London. One of the best women drivers in England was the late Mrs. Mantle, who practically founded the Ladies Automobile club.

AMERICAN SPORTSMEN IS MASIER COTTESMORE HUNT

MELTON MOWBRAY, Nov. 8.—Mr. Strawbridge, an American sportsman, has been appointed master of the world-famous Cottesmore hunt, whose territory extends over the whole of the county of Rutland and a great slice of High Leicestershire. None but a British subject of great renown and fox-hunting prowess has ever before held this distinguished and much coveted honor.

For over a century and a half Leicestershire has been the great fox-hunting center. The Cottesmore have a magnificent record, its followers including the late King Edward, the late Empress of Austria, Mrs. Asquith, wife of the prime minister, the Duchess of Newcastle and the Duchess of Portland.

Mr. Strawbridge has succeeded to an office formerly held by such great sportsmen as the present Earl of Lonsdale, and who, as well as the countess, is getting fit for the heavy work of the season.

HEAD SPLIT WIDE OPEN BUT DEATH NOT ALLEGED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Justice Holmes has the reputation of citing more peculiar cases from the old law books than any other Justice of the supreme court of the United States. The last he has told from the bench to the amusement of his associates was during the argument in a libel suit in which it was being contended that the declaration was insufficient because the offense was not stated properly.

"That leads me to recall a case in the old books," said the Justice, "where an indictment set forth that the accused struck a man on the head splitting the skull until a portion fell down on either shoulder, and the court held the indictment defective because it did not allege that the man was killed."

NO PAY FOR TEACHERS TOO TIRED TO WORK

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—School teachers whose social duties so exhaust them that they are unable to attend to their school work will not be paid for the time they are absent, according to a rule established today by Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, school superintendent.

BORN LABORER IS VIRTUAL SLAVE

1 Life Becoming Almost Intolerable; Many Flock
to the Cities

BY PHILLIP EVERETT.
DON, Nov 8.—There are not points on which Unionists and Liberals agree in England, but both the parties have long urged the abs necessity of land reform. Other-the United Kingdom is to become a number of large cities and separated by prairies inhabited by the sacred pheasants and fox-kill one of which, without authority, is a felony punishable by long of imprisonment. Every day
new evidence that so miserable
the conditions of the rural workers is it small wonder he is ing into the cities, even though are ten to one he will starve to death which came up in a court
the other day brought to light that there are plenty of rural men in England where a daily
y of his cottage by a laborer, his Men Hitched to Plow.

Another proof that slavery virtually exists in England today is supplied by the guardians of Bassford where the inmates of the workhouse were hitched to a plow and compelled to do the work of horses.

An official investigation has brought to light the fact that the plow was of the kind commonly used by market gardeners. Forty-five inmates of the workhouse were hitched to it and driven like a team of horses and the only excuse the authorities could find was that all the human plow head had been examined by a doctor and found physically fit.

A charitable member of the board who made an indignant protest and suggested that the members who approved of this way of treating public charges should try it for themselves,
was outvoted.

Church to Have Newspaper.

A new newspaper for the Church of England will appear early in the new year. A representative committee, including Canon Masterman and Douglas Eyre, has had the scheme in view for three or four years. To be known as "The Challenge," the paper will be run on the lines of "muscular Christianity."

In the last 30 years, the committee states, a profound change has come over the life of England. Old beliefs are being challenged, new problems are calling for solution; and everywhere there is unrest and change.

There is a large and growing number of churchmen who wish to see the church face the facts of modern life in a spirit of larger sympathy and with a more daring faith. In the future
they are tired of the hawfow party spirit which infects not only politics but religion. "The Challenge" will put in the forefront the need of religious unity and the reduction of sectarian strife. The Archbishops of Canterbury and York say there is a field for such a paper, and the bishops of London and Liverpool are lending encouragement and commendation.

IA NOW ALARMED
BY BANK FAILURES

UTAH, Nov. 8.—The long list of bank failures in India is a much alarm and the government is contemplating legislation regarding the use of the term "bank" in this country. The government has sent a circular to all banking institutions on solid banking institutions, their foreign or domestic capital, etc., of the clauses of the new bill proposed today by the Mar. 1. Clegg, secretary of state for home affairs, resembles those of the Indian currency bill now before the American congress and it is claimed on the world's gold market itself of information furnished is the result of the Washington hearings on banking and currency. India also has banking problems peculiar to herself. The Indian public is slowly abandoning the time honored custom of buying its gold and is adopting the more lucrative practice of banking deposits bearing interest. The government considers that this practice should not only continue unchecked but should be encouraged by legislation which will make the deposits as safe as possible.

For years the world's supply of silver has been appreciably lowered by the Indian habit of burying savings but the abundance of this metal has rendered this practice comparatively harmless as far as the rest of the world is concerned.

Lately, however, with increased prosperity the East Indians have begun to buy gold with alarming frequency. The American congress and it is claimed on the world's gold

BRYAN IS WORKING ON NEW DENMARK TREATY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Secretary Bryan announced today that he was continuing work on the Denmark treaty which were so radically modified by the Senate as to prevent its ratification. The Secretary of State has now turned his attention to the preparation of a new Denmark treaty, including those of national bank.

The proposed treaty is intended to be even broader in its terms than the Knox treaty with Great Britain and France which were so radically modified by the Senate as to prevent its ratification. The Knox, or 1904, treaty provided that all debts due to the United States by Denmark shall be subject to arbitration.

The proposed treaty is intended to give the treaty making powers of Congress the power to submit the same to the Senate for confirmation to determine the same.

While in the present state of negotiations it is not possible to determine the details of the pending convention, it is believed that it dispenses with such a provision and proposes that all questions without regard to limits shall be subject to arbitration.

Denmark already has a convention with Italy similar to the one which Minister Bryan seeks to negotiate with the United States.

REVIVE US AGAIN

AND he called for lights and sprang in, and trembling for fear, fell down before Paul and Silas, and brought them out and said, "Sirs, what must I do to be saved?"

And they said, "Believe on the Lord Jesus, and thou shalt be saved; thou and thy house." And they spake the word of the Lord unto him, with all that were in his house.

And he took them the same hour of the night, and washed their stripes; and was baptized, he and all his, immediately. Acts 16:29-33.

The other day, in South America, Theodore Roosevelt delivered an address in which he insisted that no nation could be saved from national sin and disgrace except as the character of the individual men and women composing the citizenship of the nation was virtuous and moral. And cynics laughed, saying there was nothing new in that; it had been preached from time immemorial. They were well answered by someone, who reported that just such preaching would continue to be needed as long as time shall last, since men are prone to forget that the wages of sin is death, and to think that somehow legislation can absolve them from its consequences.

There is today a revival in progress in Colorado Springs. And again the cynics laugh. Revivals, they say, are old; they only reiterate, in their preaching, what has been said over and over again in similar meetings for centuries. That is true, but it is true also that, nevertheless, revivals are needed.

And perhaps now more than ever. A new social spirit is taking hold of us. It is time that it did; too long and too persistently we have refused to recognize society's guilt for social sins. But there is the possibility that, in our enthusiasm for social reform, we may overlook the absolute necessity for individual righteousness. Social justice must inevitably rest upon Christian individuals. If the individuals composing a society are weak and selfish, then the whole society will certainly be affected.

Hence the necessity for a revival; hence the necessity for impressing upon men and women, as solemnly and as lastingly as it can be done, the fundamental need of right relations with God. This may be old-fashioned, but it is the rock upon which our nation must be founded if it is to endure. Sin kills, and nothing can alter that unchanging law. All we can do is to point the remedy for sin, and to urge upon men that they be converted and turn from their sins.

Let the cynics laugh as they may; the Christian religion, if it really takes hold of a man, does wonderfully change his life, just as it changes the life of a nation, if it is apprehended in all its truth. And Colorado Springs needs many changed lives; it needs to get away for a time from materialism and the worldliness of modern life, and to think of those truths that are eternal.

The revival ought to be a wonderful blessing to hundreds in Colorado Springs. Let us all trust that it will be so; that many will be asking, "What must I do to be saved?" And as they come to learn that belief in God is what can give salvation, let them also learn, in the wonderful words of James, that a mere lip belief is not enough, "for as the body apart from the spirit is dead, even so faith apart from works is dead."

If the revival could leave in Colorado Springs but a dozen men and women, thoroughly converted in that sense, it would be the best investment the people of Colorado Springs ever made. For a dozen men and women, thoroughly imbued with that spirit, as the disciples of old were, would literally transform this city.

INVESTIGATE

IT IS not to be expected that the suggestion of a municipal coal mine would be received with unanimous approval by the public. The first question in the minds of all conservative people will concern the practicability of the plan. Will it work? Can the City operate a coal mine honestly and efficiently? Would it actually result in lowering the price of fuel?

These questions are not only reasonable but necessary. The people do not want to make a mistake. But the questions cannot be answered until an investigation is made. Nobody can say that the plan is either feasible or foolish until somebody has gone to the bottom of the matter and found out what actual conditions would be, just as would be done if private capital were about to embark in a like enterprise.

The Gazette's only contention is that, if it is feasible, and if Mr. Thomas' figures and they are the figures of a man who has spent a quarter of a century mining coal, are anywhere near correct, then the City owes it to its citizens to break the extortions of the coal trust. If coal for which we pay $4.50 can be mined for anything like $2.75 per ton, are we not, collectively, foolish people, do not we deserve to be robbed if we refuse even to make an investigation?

The Council ought to make a fair, thorough investigation, beginning at once, and lay all the facts before the people, whose servants they are, and who alone can make the final decision.

THE FUTURE OF THE G. O. P.

MR. WILLIAM BARNES, JR., of Albany, boss of the Republican party of New York in the heyday of its glory, and still boss of what is left of it, is one of the most astute politicians of the Old Guard. He knows the game and plays it as well as and usually with more success than most of his kind. Just now, of course, he is in eclipse because the people of his state, in common with those of the whole country, have moved their political standards several notches higher than they were in the days of Mr. Barnes' ascendancy. Nevertheless, as one of the owners of the remnant of the Republican party, Mr. Barnes' advice is entitled to consideration.

Recently he has made a few suggestions as to the future of his party in the light of last Tuesday's elections. Naturally he has no patience whatever with the so-called progressive Republicans who would reconstruct the old hulk along modern lines. He sneers at revision of the rules of the national committee whereby the procedure which last year enabled him and his pals to steal the nomination from Roosevelt and give it to Taft would be rendered impossible hereafter.

The Republican party, as Mr. Barnes understands the case, is innately "conservative," in other words, reactionary, and it should never attempt to be anything else. Hence, he would repel the progressive reformer within its ranks. He would frankly tell all Republicans of advanced views to get out of the G. O. P. and go into the Progressive camp where they belong. Then he would as frankly invite all reactionaries, stand-patters, and other survivors of past political eras to desert whatever flag they are now following and line up under the Republican banner. Then, says Mr. Barnes, we should have the long-desired division between reactionaries and progressives.

And Mr. Barnes is right—so absolutely right that even the Progressives, who heretofore have disagreed with him in toto on every subject, are the first to admit it. There is no place in the Republican party for a man or woman who believes in anything so enlightened and up-to-date as the doctrine of popular rule. Neither is there a place in the Progressive party for people who adhere to the theory and practice of politics exemplified by Mr. Barnes. For either type of citizen to remain in the other party is an anachronism which can only complicate the issue and delay a right settlement of political problems. Everybody ought to unhesitatingly get into one camp or the other.

Without affecting the political acumen of Mr. Barnes we venture the prediction that when the lineup occurs at least four-fifths of the American public will be found on the side of progressivism and opposed to the principles and practices for which the Republican party now stands.

THE PRICE OF COAL.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

Permit me to express my appreciation of the editorial in The Gazette of the seventh inst. It is evident that a paper with the influence that The Gazette has comes out in such a strong, straight-forward article on a subject that is being so much discussed as the present coal strike. The Gazette is the only paper so far with the exception of the Denver Times, that has ever hinted that the miners have any rights in the present controversy at all, and for this reason I think that The Gazette ought to be complimented on the editorial above referred to.

The fact that the operators refuse to recognize the union is in itself sufficient to prove that they are not willing to play fair with the miners either now or in the future. It must be a fact that the operators are working together in the present strike to defeat the demand of the miners for recognition of the union, and a little illustration will prove this.

For instance, there has been, and is now, an advertisement in Denver papers signed by the Colorado Fuel & Iron company, the Victor American Fuel company and the Rocky Mountain Fuel company, stating that the price of different grades of coal should be a certain amount, and that if a greater amount per ton is asked for by the dealers, then the public is a sucker, or the dealer is crooked, or both, or worse to the same effect. In other words, these three companies have served notice upon the public that they have agreed upon what the price of coal shall be, and the public can either pay it or do without coal, and this regardless evidently of whether or not it is costing one mine or the other a greater or less amount to produce the coal. This, however, is only a continuation of past performances of these companies.

However, the purpose of this letter was to express to The Gazette an appreciation of their commendable attitude in coming out as they have and declaring the situation as it undoubtedly is, for which they should have the thanks of all right-thinking people, especially those who are now getting "stung" to the tune of $7 or $8 per ton for $4 coal, of which number the undesignated is a unit.

NORTH PARK

To the Editor of The Gazette:

I notice by the local newspapers that the city of Colorado Springs has decided to replace the bandstand and public comfort buildings in our Acadia square or North park.

My business has required me to visit during the past two years nearly every city, between Kansas City and San Francisco, and between Calgary and El Paso, therefore as a stranger I have had ample opportunity to size up this feature elsewhere.

Colorado Springs is a very desirable city to live in, but our North park is sadly lacking in taste. Easily the nicest scheme for this purpose is a combination of bandstand and public comfort rooms in one nice building of brick and concrete in the center of a similar square in one of the cities I visited, and I recall it as Cheyenne, Wyo., although I am not sure. Our architect might do well to follow or nearly follow their plan.

Colorado Springs, Nov. 8.

EVERYTHING IS WRONG.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

About a year or so ago there was an "Open Forum" in this city, where many important problems were discussed by speakers and audience. At that time it was claimed, that the "forum" was an adjunct of the Progressive party, and that the forum would die out after the general election. That charge has materialized—more so, because the "Open Forum," well advertised as it was, is today ancient history.

The Socialist forum, with its many varieties of speakers, its live and interesting debates on all modern problems, and the big crowds attending the meetings, has lost considerable ground and the once large crowds have dwindled to a mere handful of customary meeting-goes. There's something in the shape of a "forum" at the Unitarian church, but the questions asked there and the discussion following each lecture are dreary to the extent of putting the strongest mind to sleep. One or two of the other churches have attempted imitations along forum lines, but have failed before properly starting.

The standpat mind is always confident that nothing new can succeed.

The standpat mind, without investigation, condemns the railroad, the telegraph, the telephone, the airplane, wireless telegraphy, and every other great invention. It condemns the first feeble trial of democracy, and condemns every further extension of democracy. Of course, then, it would condemn right off the bat, such a monstrous heresy as that the people should dispense with the coal trust and mine their own coal.

You have to hand it to the standpat mind in one respect: It is never inconsistent. It never, for an instant, welcomes anything new. It never falters a single second in its distrust of the people.

But our city commissioners are supposed to be broadminded and progressive. They owe it to themselves and to the people to investigate fairly and thoroughly the proposition for a municipal coal mine.

The Indianapolis street car strike is dragging wearily on. Colorado sadly needs a governor.

With 940 names already on the rolls, it ought to be no task at all to raise the membership of the Chamber of Commerce to 1,000. The work it is doing for the upbuilding of the city warrants the support of every citizen.

Segregation of juvenile offenders is the very first step towards anything like an enlightened treatment of delinquency. Colorado Springs can have something like pride in her judicial system, so long as hardened criminals and first offenders are thrown together in common jail.

To those deluded persons who persist in the statement that there are no fundamental differences between Progressives and Republicans we commend the speech of Theodore Roosevelt at Buenos Aires, and the article on Barnes' political philosophy, both published in yesterday's Gazette.

Prosperity is headed for Colorado if the coal strikers would only let it arrive.

The type of mind that can see only one side of an industrial dispute is the very type that is responsible for all our strikes.

Republicans control the New York assembly. But they are already divided into two camps—pro-Barnes and anti-Barnes Republicans. It may be that the latter are more Progressive than Republican, and will line up with the Progressives for the control of the assembly.

Denver & Rio Grande improvements are waiting a better money market. There would not be nearly so much hesitation on the part of the public to invest in the public in subscribing if the government had control of all stock and bond issues.

Wagner asserts an exchange, "is the best player in the national game." Needless to say, it was not a Philadelphia exchange.

Fremont county miners ask Governor Adams to seize and operate the mines of the state, unless by that time the recusant operators agree to meet and talk things over with the miners.

There is many a suffering coal consumer who will breathe a fervent amen to this demand of the miners.

It is a total vote of 2,435 the majority against immediate municipal ownership of the gas and light plant in Grand Junction was only 14%. Another year's adoption of the people will make victory for municipal ownership easier.

The day victory in Grand Junction, according to James A. Reed in the News of that city, has again demonstrated that a preacher can be a politician when the issue is righteousness; the preachers would only be politicians more often, and in the cause of every effort for social betterment, what a tremendous advance there would be in this old world!

The Grand Junction News, under the ownership of Verner Z. Reed, announced that it will be independent in politics, and that it will carry the full-fledged wire Associated Press reports. The first paper on the western slope to do so.

ODDS AND ENDS

Republican leaders announce that if the Progressives will renounce their constitutional "vagaries" there will be no obstacle to fusion. Roosevelt answers in his speech at Buenos Aires. Who, after reading that, can repeat the canard that the colonel is flinging for the Republican nomination?

And who, after reading that great declaration of faith in the people, can remain unaware of the vast gulf that separates Progressives from both old parties, or speak again of the Bull Moose as merely a Republican "faction?"

"We do not see all the steps that will be necessary to take in order to realize our ideals," said T. R. "But we do see the six or eight or a dozen steps which it is now necessary to take. These we shall take; and then the further steps will become clearer to us."

Could the ideals of enlightened statesmanship be more clearly expressed?

Of course our evening-contemporary condemns, without investigation, the proposal for a municipal coal mine. Our evening-contemporary is consistently reactionary, consistently distrustful of the people, consistently faithful to those private interests that prey on the people.

The standpat mind is always confident that nothing new can succeed. The standpat mind, without investigation, condemns the railroad, the telegraph, the telephone, the airplane, wireless telegraphy, and every other great invention. It condemns the first feeble trial of democracy, and condemns every further extension of democracy. Of course, then, it would condemn right off the bat, such a monstrous heresy as that the people should dispense with the coal trust and mine their own coal.

You have to hand it to the standpat mind in one respect: It is never inconsistent. It never, for an instant, welcomes anything new. It never falters a single second in its distrust of the people.

But our city commissioners are supposed to be broadminded and progressive. They owe it to themselves and to the people to investigate fairly and thoroughly the proposition for a municipal coal mine.

The Indianapolis street car strike is dragging wearily on. Colorado sadly needs a governor.

With 940 names already on the rolls, it ought to be no task at all to raise the membership of the Chamber of Commerce to 1,000. The work it is doing for the upbuilding of the city warrants the support of every citizen.

Segregation of juvenile offenders is the very first step towards anything like an enlightened treatment of delinquency. Colorado Springs can have something like pride in her judicial system, so long as hardened criminals and first offenders are thrown together in common jail.

The question whether there shall be a union hinges on the issue which is to be presented to the voters of the United States at the next election. If it is an economic issue, there will probably be little difficulty in combining the two parties. If it is a question between pure democracy and representative government, it is impossible for these two bodies to join in one movement. At the present time nobody can tell what sort of a main question is to take the prominent place.

"Do not be deceived by the talk about leaders. The leaders do not make the issues of a political campaign. The leaders are led. The people and the course of events make the issue. That is why the question of a union between the two parties must be determined by the dominant issue. Nobody can tell what that will be."

"But suppose they people desire to have some economic question put to the test. Suppose, for example, the new tariff should have a big effect on the country or a banking and currency law which is likely to be enacted in the next few months? Suppose then, that the Progressives still stick to their leading ideas and set up this recall of judges and decks like a granite column in the middle of the road to the White House. What will happen then?"

"That will make no difference. They

FACTS FROM SPEECH OF PROF. DE SAUSSURE

Extracts given below are from address of Prof. René de Saussure at the formal opening of the ninth international congress at Bern, Aug. 1. It may be recalled that during the congress of 1912 in which he celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of the first publication of Esperanto and that Dr. Zamenhof, then as in all former congresses, the opening address took the opportunity to announce a new policy relationship to the general movement. In effect making that date the commencement of a new epoch in the development of Esperanto. It was this action of Zamenhof's which at that time never before been taken by a spokesman, and his position Professor de Saussure really took for the foremost topic under discussion in reference to the new epoch as will be seen below, began as follows:

All Event of Vast Importance to Every Woman in This City and Its Vicinity. Lasts All This Week.

RECENT Special Purchases made in New York by our Mr. Bishop are the means of offering to our customers what is probably the greatest sale of Woolens yet held in Colorado Springs. While we are including many numbers from our regular stock, remember that this is not a clearance of old goods, but is in reality a "Manufacturer's Clearance" of Fall and Winter 1913-14 materials. Naturally, the wholesaler's season is several months in advance of the retailers. That is why, at this time, by being in New York, we were able to take advantage of drastic price cuts on their part. Even were we inclined to place these bargains of ours in regular stock, it would be impossible to do so on account of the enormous yardage involved. They must be sold now—and to avoid conflicting prices much of our regular stock is to be carried away with them. THE TWO LOTS ARE AS FOLLOWS:

Lot One 98c Per yard

Regular values are

1.25

1.15

1.15

2.00

and
2.25

a Yard

Over Two Thousand Yards to choose from in this lot. A few of the pieces ordinarily would be $1.25 a yard, but the bulk of the assortment are $1.50 to $2 qualities—a few even as high as $2.25. Represented are such weaves as Bedford Cords, Ratines, Crepes, Epingle, Vigouroux, Suiting Serges, hairline striped Suiting, Novelty Mixtures, Brocades, hollow cut Cords, white and black striped Worsted, etc., etc. All the wanted shades among them are navy blues, copenhagen blues, gray, reds, greens, tan, browns, taupe, wines, mahogany, as well as cream and black. Widths range from 44 to 60 inches. Your choice of this entire great lot at 98c a yard.

Lot Two 1.85 Per yard

Regular values are

2.50

2.15

3.00

3.50

and
4.00

a Yard

Another great assortment of new and stylish materials for making coats, suits, dresses and skirts. The prices on these would range in the regular way from $2.50 up to $4 a yard. The color assortment is very complete, including medium and dark grays, tans, navy blues, browns, black and pastel shades in gray, blue and pink. There are hollow cut chinchilla coatings, mixed boucle coatings, cheviots, zibelines, heavy corded coating, chiffon broadcloths, etc., included. The widths range from 52 to 56 inches. Many of the pieces are all sponged and shrunk ready to use. Choice of them all for this week at $1.85 a yard.

This sale will continue all of this week, but remember that the earlier you attend the greater the assortments you may choose from. Follow the crowds to Hibbard's

Bethel Benefit.

The concert of the Princess Tsianina, Indian mezzo soprano who will sing for the benefit of Beth-El hospital, will be given Tuesday evening at the Burns theater, under the auspices of the American Music society. Mr. Frank W. Farmer, tenor, of Denver, will assist, and as Mr. Farmer is well known in the Springs and his singing is always received with enthusiasm, the concert undoubtedly will be an artistic financial and social success. The princess is an attractive and remarkable personage. She is described as being very straight of medium height, strong and graceful, with a round brown throat, a proud and very sensitive face, a mouth of extraordinary beauty and flawless and beautiful teeth. Her brow, bound with a headed fillet, is low and broad; her dark eyes clear and intelligent, and her black hair, parted in the middle and braided in two wide plaits, is thick and glossy.

Boxes for the concert have been taken by Mr. and Mrs. William A. Otis, Mrs. John G. Shields, Mrs. Francis W. Goddard, Mr. and Mrs. Chaloner Schley, Mr. and Mrs. James Ferguson Burns, Dr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Faust and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Spurgeon.

Bad Indigestion

One is the one who can eat "without suffering the torture of dyspepsia, but as few are so fortunate, care should be taken in the diet. Eating slowly, masticating the food thoroughly and taking a walk after the heavy meal of will do much towards assisting digestion. Any grown-up person ought to know the peculiar foods that do not suit these should be avoided.

These common-sense aids fail, then to do is to take a mild tonic with laxative properties, none is better than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsi. It contains the all aids to digestion; good. It has other ingredients that form a combination for the dyspepsia or indigestion that is

SOCIETY

Tucker-Kyler.

My home wedding was solemnized yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Kyler, 320 South Cascade avenue.

Mr. Kyler's daughter, Jewel Mary, became the bride of Mr. Guy L. Pryor. They were attractively decorated in chrysanthemums and smilax. The ceremony was read by the Rev. C. Holman of Manitou.

The bride was attired in a smartly made gown of blue cloth and wore a white lace mantilla. Only relatives and close friends witnessed the ceremony immediately following which the couple left for a short wedding trip. The wedding was conducted by the board last August was so successful that the debt of the hospital are all paid. Donations are being given liberally so that funds for the necessary expenses are assured.

The annual bazaar of the hospital will be given the first week in December in conjunction with a luncheon and a turkey dinner. Committees are already in working order that the affair may prove a success.

The board is especially proud of the harmony with which the executives, the staff, the Visiting Nurse association and other interests in the hospital work together. Though the hospital is full of very sick people, there are few deaths and none occurred in the month of October.

Mrs. Wesley S. Morris is president of the local board of which there are 48 other members. Mrs. Peck, president of the state board, was present at the meeting and highly complimented the local board for its loyalty and good work during the last year.

His guests will be Mr. and Mrs. William A. Otto, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Curtis, Mrs. John G. Shields and Mr. Joel Addison Hayes. Mr. Morley gave a dinner party Thursday evening honoring her son and his wife, when covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Morley, Jr., Mr. and

District Federation Meeting.

A convention of women's clubs of the southeast district of Colorado will be held in Pueblo Thursday and Friday of this week. Mrs. L. A. Miller of this city is president of the southeast district, and Mrs. Nellie B. Pyles of Fountain is secretary. A large representation of club women from Colorado Springs will attend the convention, among them Mrs. Ogden H. Easley of the Open Progress Club; Miss Flensburg of the City Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Alvah L. Mowry, Mrs. J. W. Brauer and Mrs. Francis F. Schreiber of the Pueblo club; Mrs. Harry van Steeg of the Woman's Literary Club; Mrs. Thana V. Esperon, Mrs. Andrew J. Carpenter, Mrs. William F. Dixon, Mrs. A. Koehler, Mrs. J. Allard Jeancin, Mrs. C. H. Auld and Mrs. A. B. Williams of the Woman's Club; Mrs. Duncan Lamont, Mrs. W. L. Harrison of the Woman's Study Club, and Mrs. E. L. Ellis of the Fortnightly Club.

Following is the program in brief:

Thursday Evening, 8 o'clock.

Presentation of programs—Mrs. W. A. Lewis, president City Federation, La Junta.

Greetings—Mrs. W. H. Baker, president City Federation, Pueblo; Mrs. M. D. Thatcher, past president, C. F. W. C. Pueblo.

Responses.

President's message—Mrs. L. A. Miller, Colorado Springs.

Music for this session will be furnished by the Music Study Club of La Junta.

Reception for all visiting club women in the parlors of the Congress Hotel.

Friday, 9:30—Congress Hotel.

Address.

Music for morning and afternoon sessions arranged by Mrs. C. H. Bacon of Pueblo.

Friday Evening, 8 o'clock.

Music arranged by Mrs. John E. Dye of Trinidad.

Monologue—"A Frenchwoman Crossing the Channel"—Madame Guillford Smith, presidente du Cercle français, Montreal, N. J.

Lecture—Mrs. Belle Van Dorn Hartnett, president International Congress of Farm Women.

Social half hour.

Woman's Club Activities.

A general meeting of the Woman's Club will be held next Saturday afternoon in the club rooms in I. O. O. F. temple, at 8 o'clock.

The program will be in charge of the art and literature department.

Mrs. Andrew J. Carpenter, chairman. Miss Ethel Barber will sing.

Mrs. William Wells Price's song, "The Blue Bird."

The chief feature of the afternoon will be the lecture on Ibsen's "Peer Gynt," given by Miss Flensburg and interspersed with illustrative music on the piano by Miss Frances Bogue, a brilliant young musician and an advanced student of Mrs. Frederick A. Faust. "Peer Gynt" is one of Ibsen's earliest masterpieces (1867) and the music, written by Edward Grieg, in 1876, has added greatly to the popularity of the play.

The four pieces of the suite for the piano are entitled:

"In the Hall of the Mountain King,"

"Aks' death,"

"Morning,"

"Anitra's Dance."

Woman's Study Club.

The Woman's Study Club of Colorado City will meet tomorrow evening with Mrs. Harriet Bott Daniels, 181 Colorado Avenue, when Frank Drew will talk on "The Vatican and What I Saw There."

Mr. Drew has traveled extensively abroad and much interest is evinced in his subject and his unquestioned familiarity with it.

Musical numbers will be given by Mrs. E. C. Best and Miss Estelle Thill. The evening will be a guest occasion and it is hoped that the husbands of the members will attend.

The study class held an interesting meeting last Monday at the home of Mrs. Best. Interesting papers were read by Mrs. Vinyard and Mrs. Miller followed by a discussion.

Portia Club.

The Portia Club will be entertained next Thursday by Mrs. Louis N. Depayre and Mrs. Francis F. Schreiber.

At the home of Mrs. Depayre, 1604 Colorado Avenue, a paper on "Colonial Furniture" will be given by Mrs. Laura H. Reynolds and one on "Colonial China" by Mrs. William F. Dixon.

Woman's Literary Club.

A regular meeting of the Woman's Literary Club was held Saturday with Mrs. Edgar Howbert, 1320 North Nevada Avenue.

Mrs. George Stone read a paper on "Macbeth—The Source and Story of the Play," and Mrs. William E. Fryhofer one on "My Trip Abroad."

The meeting was a large one and Mrs. Fryhofer's relation of her experiences on her recent trip to Zurich, Switzerland, was intensely interesting.

Halloween decorations were used and refreshments appropriate to Halloween were served.

Mrs. William H. Spurgeon, Mrs. Edgar T. Nason and Miss Sara Cowgill assisted in serving.

Howard Brown.

Mrs. Edward E. Tallafornio and others.

GUELPH QUESTION IS NOT SO IMPORTANT IN GERMANY

Francis Joseph May Resign the Austrian Throne, Is Rumor; "Naval Holiday" Provokes Much Discussion

By FREDERICK WERNER.

PLURIN Nov. 8.—In spite of all at tempos on the part of sensational living newspapers to make the question of the succession in Brunswick a political affair of the first magnitude German statesmen with no political axes to grind agree with the chancellor of the empire that the affair in itself is of little importance to Germany, as a whole.

Sensible radical papers like the "Berliner Tageblatt" have right along maintained that while on one side it really matters very little whether an insignificant state is ruled by a Guelph or a Mecklenburg prince, it must not be overlooked that it is hardly proper the interests of the Kaiser's family (dynastie Rücksicht) should be considered of sufficient importance to ask the federal council to rescind a former resolution at the mere request of the Prussian government. What seems stranger still is the fact that the government of Prussia has actually made use of the person of the Kaiser as a shield and that an official paper like the "Nord-deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung" should speak of a complaint against the Kaiser quite unmindful of the fact that the Kaiser, according to the constitution stands outside and above the political debate and all responsibility for actions of state rests with the chancellor.

King Can Do no Wrong.

The principle that the king can do nothing wrong the "Berliner Tageblatt" says may be political fiction but it is founded in the very character of constitutionalism. Without this principle Germans would retrovert to absolutism. And just as the Kaiser himself must be kept out of the political debate it is even more evident that the crown prince has no political standing.

Many conflicting tales have been told about a letter touching upon the Brunswick succession sent by the crown prince to the chancellor of the empire. All level headed Germans, however, while admitting that the crown prince has a good right to form a personal opinion on this question, hold that this opinion is not of the slightest interest to anybody but himself.

Nobody blames the crown prince for expressing his opinion in writing to the chancellor, but it was a serious offense to publish this letter. No body will probably ever know who was guilty of the indiscretion but it is supposed that the chancellor did it either to influence his actions or to gratify either the letter itself or its intention to influence his actions is absurd.

The only question which remains open is whether the guarantees given by Prince Ernest Augustus are binding as Herr von Bethmann Hollweg considers them. A great part of the German people doubt this. At all events the incident leaves behind the bitter feeling that it is as impossible today as it was a century ago to decide the fate of a German state without even asking the citizens what their wishes are in the matter.

Francis Joseph to Resign.

Rumors are current in political circles here that relations between the aged Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria and the heir-apparent Archduke Francis Ferdinand are getting more and more strained and that the emperor is thinking seriously of resigning. A rupture nearly came a little over two weeks ago when Count Berthold and the archduke insisted on the necessity of sending an ultimatum to Serbia in regard to the Albanian question.

Emperor Francis Joseph feared not only that the ultimatum would provoke war between Austria and Serbia probably assisted by Russia, but also that it would place Austrian politics in an unfavorable light with the other European powers.

Francis Joseph was overjoyed when his fears in regard to a war were not realized so much more as Serbia's decision was probably principally due to the emperor's personal influence with the Serbian premier, M. Pasitch. But he still reproaches himself for not remaining firm, because the ultimatum has, as he feared, been strongly condemned not only in Russia and France but also in England.

Relations between Austria and Russia are indeed strained almost to the breaking point and the fact that the Austrian heir presumptive and the representative of the czar, Grand Duke Cyril did not exchange a single word beyond an icy formal greeting when they met at the centennial celebration at Leipzig has been widely commented on here.

Discuss "Naval Holiday."

Since the British secretary of the navy, Mr. Winston Churchill, a few weeks ago a second time suggested that Germany and England for 12 months should limit their construction of battleships the feasibility of the suggestion has been widely discussed in this country.

I believe that I am justified in saying that in the opinion of the majority of the German people the German government should no longer wait and see whether the British government will come forward with more definite proposals, but the chancellor of the empire should order the German ambassador to Great Britain to find out from the British foreign office whether the British government intends to come forward with a practical plan, and if so what its details are.

Should a satisfactory reply be given the British proposal should be fully considered here for Germans are more than willing to cut down naval expenditures if this may be done without hurting the interests of the country. One thing the German people demand however and that is that any definite proposal on the part of the British government must be entirely different from the suggestions made by Mr. Churchill, whose words are too vague and capable of too many interpretations. He refuses to count the battleships which Canada may donate to the mother country. Germany unfortunately possesses no colonies in a position to offer similar gifts, but to expect that Germany should therefore count British colonial battleships as nonexistent seems rather too childish.

Limit Number of Ships.
Churchill temporarily desires to limit merely the number of ships built by Germany and England that is to say only ships intended for the North Sea squadrons but if Austria and Italy decide to increase their navies England is to have free hand to build all the ships she wants to for the Mediterranean.

But even if Austria and Italy might be induced to stop building the situation for Germany is not quite as simple as Churchill's, i.e., to make it appear for at present the British fleet is supreme in the Mediterranean and this supremacy would be strengthened in case Germany accepted Mr. Churchill's suggestion. As the entrance to the Mediterranean is barred by British guns at Gibraltar which of course would not fire upon British ships going from the Mediterranean to the North Sea, England would therefore in case of war be in the position to either in the North Sea or strong enough to impel Germany into it.

The Germans do not want all these points made clear they do not trust Mr. Churchill. Mr. Churchill advocated a standard fleet and drew champions in front of him but he did not first of all think that Mr. Churchill has the power to make such an arrangement.

You Came After All

A good many of you enjoyed our hospitality for the first time last week and we think it was so good of you.

We hope you found it to your advantage.

It is the ardent wish of the management to make you feel at home here at all times.

To that end we have surrounded ourselves with such salespeople as we are reasonably sure will help us carry this part of our policy into reality.

At least, that is what you are to expect here. And we would consider it a great personal favor would you report any act of those we trust and engage to help, to the contrary.

Malicious Falsehood

It has come to our notice previously, but more pronouncedly the past week—As reasons given for not coming in before this of course was voluntary on their part, thinking we should know the injustice done us.

The reason—A persistently circulated rumor that the merchandise carried in our store was old and mostly brought from other stores, etc.

We have been unable to discover definitely the author or authors, whom could be responsible for such unreasonable falsehoods.

We have encountered several other setbacks and obstacles since coming here, in our way for a more progressive policy, also as yet unaccountable.

Such tactics on the part of whomsoever, be it either by ignorance as to the real merits of our store or a deliberate intention to harm, hinder or harass us in establishing ourselves to the extent intended.

This will, however, not in the least affect our determination to conquer every obstacle placed in our way of progress.

While we admit it is a little discouraging and is delaying our plans, we are learning new phases of human nature and patience to combat them.

A further denial as to the truth of such malicious falsehoods is deemed by us unnecessary. A look inside our store will refute anything said to its detriment.

The following quotations made will be good for the entire week—and those not quoted are just as interesting and found here at all times:

Child's Coats

ago, and it certainly can't be denied that the preponderance of questions arise. Does Sam retain sufficient interest in the game to forego his habits of easy living and set himself industriously to the task of attaining proper condition? If he keeps his nose to the grindstone and by dint of hard work brings himself to look as what the writer read about the boxer he gathered that he looked a couple of years ago, may he not find as others have found, that removing stubborn weight means reduction of their vitality?

There is food for thought in the Langford case, as he is at present he is not fit to be sent against any man who approaches him in class. Many of the matches he signs for may be justified on the plea that his superiority to his opponents will manifest itself even if his condition is faulty, but displays of that kind can scarcely be described as sterling sport.

We had one of them when Lester and Langford met at Taft, one that made the gorge of the oil field fans rise and it stands to reason they are easier to satisfy than the blase fight fans of big cities.

Can't Train Down. He may say, "Oh, that can all be remedied with a few weeks' hard training again there is room to improve in the experience hitter when the flesh which is there to stay, and it is time to look as though Langford reached that stage.

He had a couple of times in New York after his return from Australia to his poly conformation experiment. When he came west Jack Lester in the oil field was announced from day to Sam's rotundity was disappear. When he stripped in the never, Sam was so fat that he warmed up a bit his midriff over his waist bands, the man's neck encroaches on some other good man later.

Right now if Langford figured in an important match, and happened to lose ugly rumors would surely arise

Lightweight Champ Willie Ritchie and His Next Opponent, Leach Cross, With His Daughter

"He's going to be champion of the world," hissed Rhode Maxine Wallach, the two year and four month old daughter of Leach Cross—privately Dr. Louis C. Wallach, dentist—when she was asked what would happen when her father met Willie Ritchie, lightweight champion, Nov. 10.

The pair were matched to box Oct. 29 for ten rounds in Madison Square Garden. Cross announced the other side. The contest was postponed Cross had a forfeit of $1,000 in the hands of a stakeholder.

Ritchie has been advertising that he did not take my forfeit," said Cross angrily. "Well, let me tell you he took $300, all right. He said it was lost. But to all the forty-odd fights

Charley Miller, the "hope" from San Francisco, who will meet "Gunboat" Smith at the Atlantic Garden Athletic club, is training hard for the match. He has met Smith three times out on the coast and won one battle, lost another and earned an even break in the third. He is strong in his assertion that Smith will need more than his punch to win.

American League Fielding Faster Than in National

That the fielding in the American League was faster in 1912 than it was in 1913 is evidenced by the fact that last season the clubs of the junior organization made 46 more double plays than they did during the preceding campaign. The figures for the two years being, respectively, 276 and 312. The Cleveland Naps again carried off the honors in manufacturing two-ply retirements, they being credited with 128 dual slugs last year against 121 in 1912. The Browns contributed 127 double plays the National 117, the White Elephants 111, the Tigers 110, the White Sox 108, the Yankees 96 and the Red Sox 79. The team that showed the greatest increase in double plays over the previous season was Washington Griff's Clingers producing 27 more double demises in 1913 than they did in 1912. The Nationals equaled an American league record by doubling in the Highlanders five times on September 26. Joe Boehm being on the rubber for the District of Columbia team. Like the Griffithites made four double plays behind

Walter Johnson, the shut-out and strike-out king of 1913, who received a Chalmers car for being the player most valuable to his team in the American league. The dates they did this were June 10 and July 13, the teams they played against being Detroit and Cleveland. On three other occasions the Naps rapped into a quartet of dual murders, the teams that assassinated them being St. Louis in July 2, and New York, on July 14 and 21.

The American league of 1913 who took part in the greatest number of double plays was Arnold Gandy! Washington's first baseman. He cut into 86 thus equaling the mark set by Jack McInnis the 1912 leader. McInnis forced his way into 53 dual slugs last season Johnson of Cleveland was in 50. Weaver of Chicago in 7. Chase of Chicago in 7. Pratt of St. Louis in 66. Bush of Detroit in 67. Bear of Philadelphia in 68. McNeil of Washington in 62. Collins of Philadelphia in 76. Chapman of Cleveland in 7. Engle of Boston in 56 and Gainer of Detroit in 51.

Shortstop Starts Doubles.

The players who took the initiative oftenest in double plays were Bush of Detroit and Chapman of Cleveland. Each shortstop started 10. The debut of the White Elephants made the first move in 28 and Jim Barry, another of Mack's Mastodons, inaugurated 25.

Two unassisted double plays were made by cutthroats—the men who

Many Ways for Foxy Players to Gain Points Not Gained by Football

With the new rules of football in effect, many new ways of scoring points are available to the foxy players.

For instance, a player can score a point by kicking the ball out of bounds 30 or 40 yards down the field. Even if the wind were blowing against the ball, the passer would get more distance to his throw than a kick, for the simple reason that the ball is thrown in a straight line thus allowing the ball to bore through the air at 10 with a definite direction. The defensive team has no chance of receiving a free trial at the goal, and there is no chance of the catcher running the ball any distance.

As the rule this season permits the kicker to boot the ball from any position on the field into its own end zone, the ball will be kicked into its own end and be used a free kick. The play will be till the more valuable because the ball is free property the moment it strikes the ground, whereas in the old days the ball had to be touched by an opponent before one of the kicking side could recover it.

Although these plays should come in for a lot of consideration by coaches and players, there are other points which are of considerable resistance to claim if the players carry out instructions. The point regarding a player stepping out of bounds or fighting to the side line when he is cornered is a most import one. When a team is in possession of the ball it is crowded within ten yards from the side line, the offensive eleven in a hole, and the chances of winning ground might be nil.

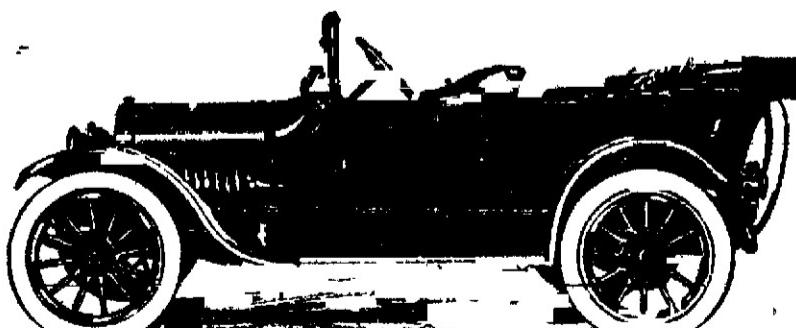

Turned this season seen trick being driven by Cleveland against St. Louis on June 1 and starting of Philadelphia against Cleveland on September 2.

The fastest middlefield team of 1913 in the American league positions on it being won by men who participated in the race test number of double plays with Dave Pidgeon, Eddie Clegg, and Frank Walker as its leaders. Chalmers, McInnis, Pratt, Frank McNeil and George Weaver in the middle and Ed Peacock in the back. Port St. Louis and the Harry Hooper crew took the lead in the field. The figures below show the number of double plays they started and helped in.

The Dry Farmer and the Dairy Cow - A Winning Combination

THE average 320 acres in the dry farming districts of Colo. a Colorado farmer right will return a cash income of $1,500 a year besides all the farm products large family can use.

This is the flat declaration made by Prof. H. M. Cottrell, agricultural commissioner of the Rock Island s, in the November issue of the Southwest Trail, ad- copies of which have just been received in Colo- Springs. There are no ifs or buts about Prot- tress's statement; it is as definite and as unqualified it is possible for words to make it. It can be done. if it is not done, the fault is with the man, not the or the climate.

But Prof. Cottrell's statement is not a mere ipse. The whole November issue of the Southwest Trail- even up to proof of what he says. It is strictly an- lso county dry land issue, and it tells far more about land farming in this country than even the natives w. It ought to be read by every resident of Colorado ngs, in order that they may know just what is being e. It is complete refutation of the often heard belief dry land farming can't be made to pay.

FACT IS FACTIVE.

Prof. Cottrell, in a signed statement on the first e, after making the statement above quoted, em- es his assertion as follows:

"The dairy cow is the one never-failing producer plains, and a well-selected one will return $75 and d a year when fed silage and dry forage, made from land crops that never fail. The skim milk fed with or kafir makes hog-raising profitable. A well- eared, well-cared-for hen will return $2 a year on dry feeds and the dry land farmer, who will, can keep to 400 laying hens. Wheat is a good cash crop et years and Mexican beans in dry years. A wind- will irrigate an acre or more that will furnish more tables and fruit than a large family can use and the r will make flowers, trees and a lawn grow.

"The COW is the foundation of money-making on dry land farm. Where there are cows there is a pros- us home. A cow of strong dairy type, either grade ure bred, fed a properly balanced ration of home- n dry land feeds will return $75 a year from the of the butter fat in her cream. Creameries in the west pay the farmers cash on delivery for each ship- of cream, so that a good dairy herd returns a cash g two or three times a week the year 'round year after year whether the season be wet or dry. "The skim milk can be fed to calves which can be fed on milo and silage and marketed at a high price baby beef" when 14 months old or the skim milk fed to hogs with milo or kafir and the best of pork uced. A part of the skim milk can be fed at a good 1 to laying hens.

"The man who goes on to a dry land farm should at least 10 good dairy cows with him; if he unders- dairy he should take 20. Don't think of dry farming without thinking of dairy cows. Don't go on a dry land farm without planning to take d of dairy cows with you. Don't attempt to make on a dry land farm except from a herd of good cows. Every other way is too uncertain.

"There is plenty of wind in a dry farming country a windmill will pump the water needed for the house- stock and a surplus sufficient to irrigate from one to acres. One acre of irrigated land will furnish more tables than a large family can use and an ample sup- of rhubarb, asparagus, gooseberries, strawberries, cur- , and early cherries. The rest of the water can be on a lawn and shade trees. The cows will furnish od cash income and the windmill will supply the to make a comfortable and attractive home."

WITH DRY FARMING.

V. H. Schoffelmayer, editor of the Southwest Trail, several days in El Paso county investigating dry conditions here. The November issue of the maga- s a compilation of figures and individual experiences, ou fully the assertion of Prof. Cottrell.

"El Paso county's prosperity," he says, in a general ary of conditions here, "is chiefly due to the dairy."

The general introduction of dairying throughout ourty brought cash and credit and a marked change taken place among the farmers. Prosperity is in- s and farmers quickly availed themselves of those which proved to be beneficial. It is estimated that are now some 8,000 milk cows on the plains of the v. The value of the creamery products of the five eries of Colorado Springs are given as $710,365.

Their investment is $150,000 and the value of the is close to $100,000. The pay roll is $70,000 a h and there are 90 employees.

El Paso county is ideally suited to dairying. There abundant pasture of good quality, the native grama buffalo grass being considered highly nutritious. pasture can be depended on from March to middle nber. Feed crops grow well in the county. In of an elevation of 6,500 feet to 7,500 feet on the de, oats, millet, barley, rye and corn do well. At Lake the winter found oats yielding 50 bushels re and cutting three tons of hay an acre. The e elevation of the plains in the eastern part of the is 5,100 to 6,500 feet. In this great region ands of settlers have taken up homes and are farm- with success. Those who have relied on grain crops, as wheat, to make money, came to grief, because country is not suited year after year to the growing grain crops for market. Just as soon as the farmers, to raise feed crops to put their milk cows through they began to reap success. The lesson was costi-

Plenty of El Paso County Farmers Have Learned How to Make Profits of $1,500 a Year on 320 Acres of Dry Land, With the Help of a Few Dairy Cows; Moreover, They're Doing It.

to some but all have benefited by it. El Paso county for many years was a cattle country with thousands of acres of free range. That day is rapidly passing and the dairy cow has taken the place of the range steer.

FARM PROSPERITY SHOWS GREAT GAIN

"An idea of the crops grown in the county may be obtained from the government's statistics issued at the last census. There were 14,464 acres of corn with a yield of 229,495 bushels; 15,880 acres of oats and 218,821 bushels; 3,932 acres of wheat and 38,352 bushels; 163 acres of barley and 1,829 bushels; 2,423 acres of rye and 21,852 bushels; 27 acres of kafir with a yield of 179 bushels; 5,518 acres of potatoes yielding 310,695 bushels; 32,552 acres of hay and forage crops yielding 39,125 tons, and 5,230 acres of alfalfa with a yield of 12,007 tons.

"The number of dairy cows in El Paso county at present is estimated to be 10,876, valued at close to $700,000. Horses and mules are estimated at about 8,000 and hogs at about 6,300 head. The value of all the farm property in the county for 1910 was placed at $13,117,310, a gain of $9,000,000 in 10 years. The average value of the farm land was placed at $12.61 an acre and in 1900 it was only $4.17, according to government statistics. This shows decided progress in a decade. There is indication that the next five years will show as great progress in farming as the last 20 years.

DAIRYING PAYS WELL.

"Between $450,000 and $500,000 is annually paid the dairy farmers of El Paso county for butterfat by the five leading creameries of Colorado Springs. The largest of these reports a total of 708,319 pounds of butterfat purchased from farmers of the county, at prices ranging from 32 to 35 cents a pound. With the raising of more prolific forage crops on the plains and the 'Divide' these figures will be doubled. As A. J. Smith, manager of the Hollywood creamery, told the writer, there ought to be farmer on every 320 acres and he ought to have as many cows as he can raise feed for. Mr. Smith in the 27 years he has lived in the county, has seen it grow from a 'coyote range' to a thriving agricultural section. He urges farmers not to try to raise grain to sell, and instead advises that they feed everything to milk cows. The demand for cream is always in excess of the supply," he said. "The increase in population is always greater than the increased production of milk."

"Colorado Springs creameries ship butter to Boston, New York, Chicago, Salt Lake City, Portland, Seattle, San Francisco and Los Angeles. The climate of Colorado is ideal for butter making. The cool nights and pure air prevents fermentation of the cream, which is troublesome in more humid climates. It is a common sight in the central states to see milk cans blow off their lids because of the fermentation caused by the humidity and the heat. It is Mr. Smith's advice to all farmers to cool all milk immediately after coming from the cow. A strong point in favor of Colorado is that at milking time, mornings and evenings, the temperature is always the coolest."

WHAT INDIVIDUAL FARMERS HAVE DONE:

But these, after all, are general statements. And the story of what is accomplished at the Woodman farm, where corn yields an average of 10 tons of silage an acre, and where the hogs are fed on the waste, costing the institution nothing, is the story of a big corporation with plenty of money. What the average man wants to know the man who is thinking of coming to Colorado is what other average men have done in the way of actual results. And Mr. Schoffelmayer fills the November issue of his magazine with just such individual experiences. Here, for instance, are a few typical stories of farming in the divide country.

"One of the most successful farmers in the Calhan district is H. B. Rice. He came to Calhan eight years ago. He was the first to dig a pit silo in El Paso count three years ago and he says nothing has ever paid him quite as well as that. Two years ago Mr. Rice raised 40 bushels of Parsons White Dent corn an acre. He says the ground had been prepared better than usual, having been plowed in the spring to a depth of 10 inches. The silage corn he thinks Parsons is the most reliable, but some seasons Swadley corn does very well. As a rule he finds that Swadley will not mature the ears before frost. He has been experimenting with seed from the Chico, Majors and Rush districts.

"Mr. Rice is a scientifically trained dairyman, having completed a course in dairying as well as horticulture at the Wisconsin Agricultural college. At present he is milking eight Jersey grade cows. They average about three gallons of milk per cow per day throughout the in October they were giving 25 gallons of milk a day and the butterfat in the cream was selling at 31 cents in Colorado Springs. It takes three days to make the round trip in a wagon. Mr. Michael's milk checks ran from $10 to $13 a week for the year. Mrs. Michael churns some of the cream and sells butter to neighbors an average of four to eight pounds a week at an average price of 25 cents a pound for the year. Mr. Michael will dig two more silos next year. There is fairly good pasture all winter for the cows, except when heavy snows come, but they do not remain long. The well on the Michael place is 210 feet deep with 50 feet of water. A Galloway gasoline engine pumps water for the stock and irrigates a family garden which supplies the table with green things.

"I never failed to raise sufficient feed to keep my cattle and to fatten some hogs every year since I have been here," Mr. Michael told the writer. "Oats, millet, rye, cane and corn do well if you take the trouble to winter list or plow and conserve all the moisture that falls at that time. I am well satisfied with my venture and believe I could not have done better anywhere."

OTHER SUCCESSFUL PLAINS FARMERS.

"James M. Sayers, five and one-half miles northeast of Rush, this year raised two acres of milo which yielded 35 to 40 bushels of grain an acre. The ground was listed after being disked and the crop planted in corn rows. The fodder made three to four tons an acre, in spite of heavy hail damage in August. There was less than five inches rainfall since May. This cut down the yield of corn on 45 acres which made only 15 bushels an acre.

"J. W. Coppers of near Rush raised one and one-fourth acres of milo, planting seed which he obtained from the department of agriculture at Washington. It made 30 bushels an acre and five tons of forage which was being fed to 10 milk cows. Next year Mr. Coppers will plant a larger area of milo as his corn on 45 acres only yielded about 15 to 20 bushels an acre.

"F. H. McConnell of near Rush raised 18 bushels of corn an acre on 20 acres. His millet on six acres cut more than a ton an acre; oats yielded a ton an acre on five acres; rye a half ton an acre on 14 acres, and cane two tons an acre on four acres. He came to the Rush district five years ago from Oklahoma and is well satisfied with his experience. He has a small dairy herd and son, a hog."

"C. O. Mackay raised 15 bushels of corn an acre on 10 acres near Rush this year in spite of the big drought. Cane made three tons of dry feed an acre on a little more than an acre; potatoes yielded 50 bushels an acre on three acres. He says every year his crops have improved over the previous season except this year."

A WIDOW CONQUERS THE DESERT.

Surely such experiences ought to prove that dry farming can be made successful, if the farmer goes about the business right, and follows Prof. Cottrell's advice to raise dairy cows. But the men have had no monopoly of the success that has been achieved. Women have been among the pioneer dry farmers. And Mr. Schoffelmayer tells the experiences of several, of which the following is typical:

"One of the most progressive farmers in the Chico basin is Mrs. Clara A. Sellmeyer, a widow, who with her son Harry, homesteaded 320 acres near Glenneath post office four years ago. When the writer visited the Sellmeyer farm there were 96 head of cows and steers on the place which represented a value of $4,800. Her farm was worth conservatively $3,200. A team of horses was valued at $250. Mrs. Sellmeyer could sell out for more than $8,000, every cent of which had been made on that homestead in four years. When she homesteaded she had no cash, owned four cows, a team and an old wagon. At the rate of $2,000 a year Mrs. Sellmeyer said she was well satisfied with her progress.

"During two years she fell into the hands of men who charged her as high as 3 per cent per month on money she was compelled to borrow, but by clever management she has become independent. She has 11 cows giving about 30 gallons of milk a day in the summer and 16 to 20 in the winter. Her milk checks early in October amounted to $10 a week. Mrs. Sellmeyer knows cattle and buys calves wherever she can. She raises all the feed for the herd on the place. Ninety acres of Minnesota corn this year yielded 25 to 30 bushels an acre. That raised on land which had beans last year yielded the heaviest crop. Twenty acres of oats yielded about a ton of hay an acre.

"This summer she had 560 chickens and their egg production was about eight dozen a day during the warm weather. The eggs sold for from 20 to 45 cents a dozen and they were hauled to Colorado Springs, 25 miles away. There is a well on the place 160 feet deep with 48 feet of water, sufficient to irrigate a fairly large tract. A windmill is in use at present. Mrs. Sellmeyer's son Harry also filed on a claim of 320 acres which now is worth about $10 an acre. To the writer Mrs. Sellmeyer said, 'I would not exchange places with anybody. I am happy here on the prairie.'

And this is the whole tenor of the stories that are told by Mr. Schoffelmayer actual experiences of real men and women. Dry farming is no royal road to wealth if there is any such. It involves hard work and much sacrifice. It requires the application of brain as well as of muscle on the part of the farmer. But it is

WORK and PLAY for the IDLE HOUR

A Design for a Collar and Cuff Set. Effective and Easily Made

Two Layer Collar and Cuff Sets

Double collar and double cuff sets are fashionable at present. The top layer may be simulated, but the collar is prettier with the two parts cut out separately.

Miss Eleanor Norris' Answers to Correspondents

New Bands

Mrs. H. H.—The salt bands, which are 30 x 14 in., called imitation silk bands, are made of silk, water-salt, or silk, water and salt. Either a very light or water colors are used, to obtain the desired tint, and if these are to be washed, center, and if marking, and particularly nice for table linens, as the three-inch size can be used on the tablecloth and the one and one-half inch size for the napkins.

Patterns of darning for pillows, scarfs, and towels are sometimes carried out in this way, as it gives a bolder and more free appearance to the work.

"Darning for dresses could also be most attractively executed by the above method.

Aprons.

Mrs. H. W. S.—Many quaint little aprons are now worn that you surely will find one that would appeal to your little girl.

A very charming apron, made with floured chintz in an attractive bird and flower pattern, is called the colonial apron. It is made along straight lines, with a long waist and short gathered skirt, without gores.

Then there is the apron of huck linen, which can be decorated with either an outlined or darned pattern of chickens, ducks, bunnies or other animals. The decoration is around the hem and on the pocket.

Practicing will be necessary to teach how to manipulate the needle and experience the art until the work is too tight, a more water is added, and if it is too loose, a little flour is kneaded into the paste.

Aprons are usually strung with tiny gold beads or small pearls which can be bought in any dry-goods store.

Alphabet.

Mrs. H. J. E.—The alphabet you wish was published in three sections. The initials from A to K were given November 26, 1912. The letters from K to L were published January 7, 1913, while the remainder of the alphabet was given in the January 14, 1913, issue.

The letters of this alphabet are in two sizes, suitable for almost any French stitching, then through the center put a row of fine feather stitching. It done in colors on a white or cream ground the result will be quite unique.

All out-of-date laces must be secured from the circulation department of the paper.

Napkins.

R. G. A.—The little napkins to which you refer can be used for either breakfast, luncheon or tea. They are usually fifteen inches square, of plain linen, with a hemstitched edge and an initial in one corner.

The letters can either be perfectly plain, or elaborate as you wish. The initials, surrounded by embroidered wavy or shields are always attractive. If intended for tea napkins, the Japanese initials are very quaint and especially appropriate.

The Madeira embroidered napkins, which are also used for luncheon and tea, are generally thirteen inches square. Personal replies are only sent when a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed.

Stamped Designs

There is no patent agency for the embroidery designs and there are no stamped goods for sale.

These embroidery designs are all drawn so that they can be transferred directly from the paper to the material by means of an impression shot. The only way to secure the patterns published each week is to purchase copies of the papers in which they are given.

Personal replies are only sent when a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed.

Wild Carrot Pattern

A more unusual way to embroider the wild carrot is to first work, with white floss, in single stitches, the little radiating lines, which constitute the feathery appearance of the little blooms. Then put in the French knots, using a delicate pink, light green and white.

The pink and green form the shadow of the little flowers and the effect is much better than if all white were used.

This little feathery head of the bloom is often called Queen's lace or Queen Anne's lace, which is a lovely name for the delicate beauty of the blossoms.

The best way to embroider the leaves is by means of the hem bone stitch, which is worked by using the needle through at the apex, and then taking a short, straight stitch in the direction of the center vein, then a stitch is taken from the right to a little beyond the middle vein, then one from the left a little beyond the middle vein, then from the right again, and from the left.

Continue in this way until the leaf is filled. A gray green should be used for these leaves as a bright green would detract from the delicate pink and green of the blooms. Buttonhole the edge with white.

Couch Quilts

Since you do not care to take the time to make an atahau, why not make a quilt of flannel for couch use? Very good-looking ones can be made of blue or wine-colored flannel, bound around the edge with a two-inch ribbon of the same color.

Large block initials cut from the same color of silk or ribbon cloth, are applied across one corner, thus adding to the attractiveness of the quilt.

Single blankets of "one-deck" shape can be used for a couch quilt, binding the edges with silk and decorating with the initial applique.

Pillow Design

If you do not care for the applique work as suggested in the description of the design, you could effectively embroider it by outlining the corners intended for the applique work with the maroon colored floss, and then fill the enclosed surface with French knots, packing them to form a solid mass. Use the gray floss for the Fr. st. knots.

The corners, made in this way, will be very attractive, also very much up-to-date, as French knots are being used in every way, the solid French knot background being one of the latest.

Embroider the satin stitch with the maroon shades, filling in the pattern as indicated by the slant lines of the design. The line of couching, which is denoted on the pattern by "E Heavy black line, should have a coarse gray floss for the foundation thread, with the overstitch in the maroon shade.

Gray linen would form the most effective ground for your colors. The gray couching is combined with the maroon, while the French knots will present a fuzzy surface, outlined with the maroon. You will find that these spots of gray, with the gray background, will add to the attractiveness of the pattern.

I hope this suggestion for using your colors may prove helpful to you. Thank you for your appreciative words of praise.

Appenzell Stitch

The Appenzell stitch is merely satin stitch with the threads laid lengthwise instead of crosswise, as in the ordinary satin stitch. This method of working satin stitch is not new, but it has never been quite so extensively used as now. The name, Appenzell, is taken from a little town in Switzerland, where this way of doing satin stitch is said to have originated.

The padding for Appenzell stitch is done crosswise from side to side, and the covering stitches are taken from the base to the tip lengthwise.

If the petal is small, all the stitches are taken from the same point at the base, gradually shortening them from the tip along the sides. When the base is very wide, the stitches are laid close together across the bottom, slanting them so as to conform to the shape of the petal.

The simplest definition of the Appenzell is that it is a genuine satin stitch worked in the opposite direction from the satin stitch, with which we are familiar.

Pointed Scallops

The pointed scallops are often called Van Dyke's scalloping.

They are usually padded with long running stitches following the outline of the scallop. The filling stitches should be placed so that a long stitch will be opposite a short space, and then the padding will be smooth and even, which is very necessary for good buttonholing.

As the stitches are so pointed, it will be necessary to crowd the stitches along the inside edge and leave a little more space on the outside edge. The stitches are slanted to the point, where the stitch should be exactly straight; then the stitches should be made shorter very carefully, so they will be almost nothing at the top of the scallop.

The more pointed the scallop, the more difficult the working, but if the buttonholing is carefully done over a well-laid padding, there is no reason why it should not be most attractive looking.

One Initial

When only one initial is desired for marking the letter of the last of family name is used.

The initial for a gentleman's handkerchief is from one-half to an inch in size and should be placed on the diagonal lines in one corner.

THE SEX HYGIENE DRAMA BREWS A NATIONAL STORM

In the play "Damaged Goods" it is said that it will take a group of people in a year to "fix up" or clean up the sins of all souls. Should "that queer play" or "that horrid play" which is now causing the drama up, be written about a very disgraceful subject? It is a play that has caused hundreds of thousands of people who have seen, read or been led about it to indulge in moral and sexual sins.

The play is "mangled Goods". Many members of the medical profession condemn it roundly and severely. The doctors allied with the American Medical Association not only endorse it but permit it to be produced throughout America with their endorsement, and the management goes so far as to say, under the doctors' auspices.

Social workers, civic reformers—men and women of many creeds—give it sanction.

"Horrible!" cry those of the one side. "Splendid!" exclaim those of the other.

The one side tells you that it is a play that conveys an education of an important and proper sort; that it is a thundering "Thou Shalt Not" wailed into the brains of those who witness its production. They say that it will be difficult to take an orderly, conservative, day-by-day mind and make it accept this championing of a play dealing with an unpleasant and horrible subject.

At any rate, the subject is talked about not only from the stage but in the home, in pulpits, by people grave and gay, by the modernists of life and by the conservatives or standpatters.

To deny the possibility of race betterment is the worst form of infidelity; it means to be without faith in self, in fellowmen and in the Creator. Race betterment, which, of course, includes and depends upon self-betterment, should influence our daily lives, form a basis for our ethical judgments, determine our political activities, and be a strong motive in our religion."

That statement from Victor C. Vaughan, dean of the University of Michigan medical department, and world-famed advocate of eugenics, was made in reply to recent utterances of Bishop E. D. Kelly of the Detroit diocese of the Catholic church, who declared that "the religion that holds God as the author of the human soul must carry on warfare against so-called science, which, under the captions of sterilization and sex-hygiene, interferes with man's natural powers contravening his God-given free will and robs children of purity and innocence."

Dean Vaughan defends the act of eugenics in the following article:

"The eugenist is trying to accomplish two things, both of which are essential to the welfare of the human race. One is to prevent the multiplication of bad stock, and the other is to encourage the replenishment of the good. The science of eugenics can succeed only by the help of legal enactments. There must be laws preventing the marriage of and reproduction by the unfit."

"There is a disease called infidelity or environment or both, and at present we permit it to breed and come to maturity in our midst. It will not grow, less as long as this continues. Its breeding places should be located and disinfected. No child should be born into this world save from good stock."

"However, 'good stock' needs some explanation. By good stock, the eugenist means one relatively free from undesirable, unfit characteristics, and the most important of these are alcoholism, feeble-mindedness, epilepsy, insanity, pauperism, law and criminality. All those should be excluded from the list of those to whom is granted the privilege of exercising the highest, holiest, most important function of the race—parenthood.

The eugenist does not propose that marriage selections shall be determined by statute, but it does propose so to educate the young that selections shall be made on more rational grounds than at present. The eugenist does not aim to degrade or abolish the institution of marriage, but does aim to inculcate the idea that marriage is the highest and holiest of institutions—so holy that he who dishonors it shall be counted worse than an infidel. It is no free love scheme, for that would lead to physical, mental and moral debasement.

The eugenist will endeavor to induce the state to aid in the evolution of the superman by restricting the reproduction of the obviously undesirable. It is even now a crime by statute in the State of Michigan, for an individual of one sex to infect one of the other with a venereal disease, whether the relations between the two be that of husband and wife or otherwise. However, such a statute is at present without either that educational value. Inasmuch as the prevention of crime is much wiser than permitting and then punishing it, the state will go further and demand that marriage be permitted only to those free from such diseases.

"It will come to pass that every wise man and woman will undergo a medical examination once or often each year to ascertain whether they are sound. In working out the problem, the state must supply expert medical advice, because this opportunity must be open to poor and rich alike. Already the sterilization of certain classes under certain restrictions has been legalized in eight states, and in one the operation has been performed on more than 700 individuals. The state has a right to protect its honest citizens against those who are evil. In order to secure protection against the evil doer, the state may and does often take his life; may it not therefore render him incompetent to reproduce his kind?"

"For many reasons segregation is better than sterilization, the chief objection being the greater cost, for all costs of that method, as great as it would be, is much less than we now bear from the unrestricted multiplication of these classes which now occupy our courts, necessitate a large police expenditure and fill our reformatories, asylums and penal institutions. The suppression of disease, both that are transmissible from parent to child, and those which affect only one generation, is a task problem and must be solved by the state."

Here you may read "the other side" of the debate: Brieux has brewed by attempting to teach sex hygiene on the stage. Says the assailant of Brieux and and Nana were the last fruits of a tree planted in France a century and a half earlier by the marchioness of a Rougon and a Macquart, themselves the fruits of corruption. Zola, in nearly a score of volumes, had traced their descendants through five generations. In all of the books preceding the last two he had shown power, beauty, analysis of character, motive and temperament, the modifications of environment, on heredity, struggle andunger, struggle and battle, triumph, politics, commerce, finance, society in high places, a panorama of human life. But all of this really great creative and constructive work had been passed by unheeded until Ger-vage and Nana, the last apples of Sodom on that baleful tree, had rotted to their fall. Good can come out of evil. The good that Zola had done in his earlier work came out only after the evil that he did in the last two sequel volumes of "Les Rougon-Macquart." Damaged Goods, Monsieur Brieux in his earlier work can be only evil in effect if it does not disclose some good done by try, night in thousands of American cities, towns and villages—daughters will pause for moment at the supper table and say, "Ma, can't we go to the movies?"

And in a large percentage of cases pat, who is sitting at the head of the supper table, will dig out his pocket for the money to the freight. It is a big business, this moving picture industry, already it has created its many maides, its moving picture stars and combines and its perolliterature. matter where you happen to be this week or next week, a week after, you are very

to see in the moving pictures scenes from the trial of Mr. Sulzer, who until recently was the governor of New York.

And on the same film you see pictures of Mr. Murphy, who is much bigger than the governor, but of course he got ready to do so, is the "Movies."

Now, Mr. Sulzer, as you doubtless found out to be a scoundrel, not who did in office, things could not have done, and for he should have been ousted, that is not why Mr. Sulzer was kicked out of office by Charles F. Murphy, the less corrupt Tammany organization in New York City, wanted him to because Murphy threatened to him and quickly made good his threat.

Upon a good deal of attention upon Mr. Murphy, you would know about Mr. Murphy, who is far and away the most powerful political organization in New York State.

Who is Murphy? What is Murphy? What environment produced him? How does he rule? Or, rather, as they say in New York: "Why is Murphy?"

All of these you may be sure, are very interesting questions. The next time you see a moving picture in a theatre showing Governor Sulzer walking down the capitol steps at Albany do not stop there, but this moving picture industry, already it has created its many maides, its moving picture stars and combines and its perolliterature. kicked out of office by Charles F. Murphy, the less corrupt Tammany organization in New York City, wanted him to because Murphy threatened to him and quickly made good his threat.

He was both a politician and a contractor, as we see. Therefore we find him doing large work for such corporations as the New York, New Haven, and Hartford Railroad, the Pennsylvania Railroad, and the Consolidated Gas Company of New York.

Each and all of these corporations and cities constantly were asking for franchises from the New York Board of Aldermen, and what could be more自然 than that they should establish friendly relations with the Aldermen to induce Mr. Murphy to do their contracting work, especially when you remember that Mr. Murphy and his Tammany friends owned the members of the Board of Aldermen and put them in office with the thousands of legitimate and other thousands of fraudulent Tammany voters.

None of these corporations with large contracts at their disposal had to bribe, buy, cajole or attempt to little aldermen. All that they had to do was to be good to Mr. Murphy. And examination of some of the greater pieces of contracting work in New York in the last ten years will reveal that Mr. Murphy and his partners performed them at great profit to themselves.

Already Rich When He Became Leader.

In 1883 when he became leader of Tammany Hall—so that justice, official and both large and small, could be done him, "chief," Murphy had become a rich man, but he had learned to convey his wealth and lived in a modest house at 396 East Seventeenth street. With the leadership comes in his grasp Murphy acquires a large and valuable estate of Good Ground, Long Island, and purchased the house at 209 East Seventeenth street, the doors of his former modest home. He assembled a kennel of bulldogs, bantams, pigeons, and automobilia and goes to take up residence in the house just as the cartoonists of this day depict him.

And if you have a picture of Charles F. Murphy, a very moving picture, indeed. You may see for yourself what sort of man rules New York City and New York State, the better to teach his upstate constituents, farmers, invigil against him as well as he stands for, preachers, etc., size against the kind of government they get from his hand-picked candidates, and at the very next election they get more candidates out of the very same sources.

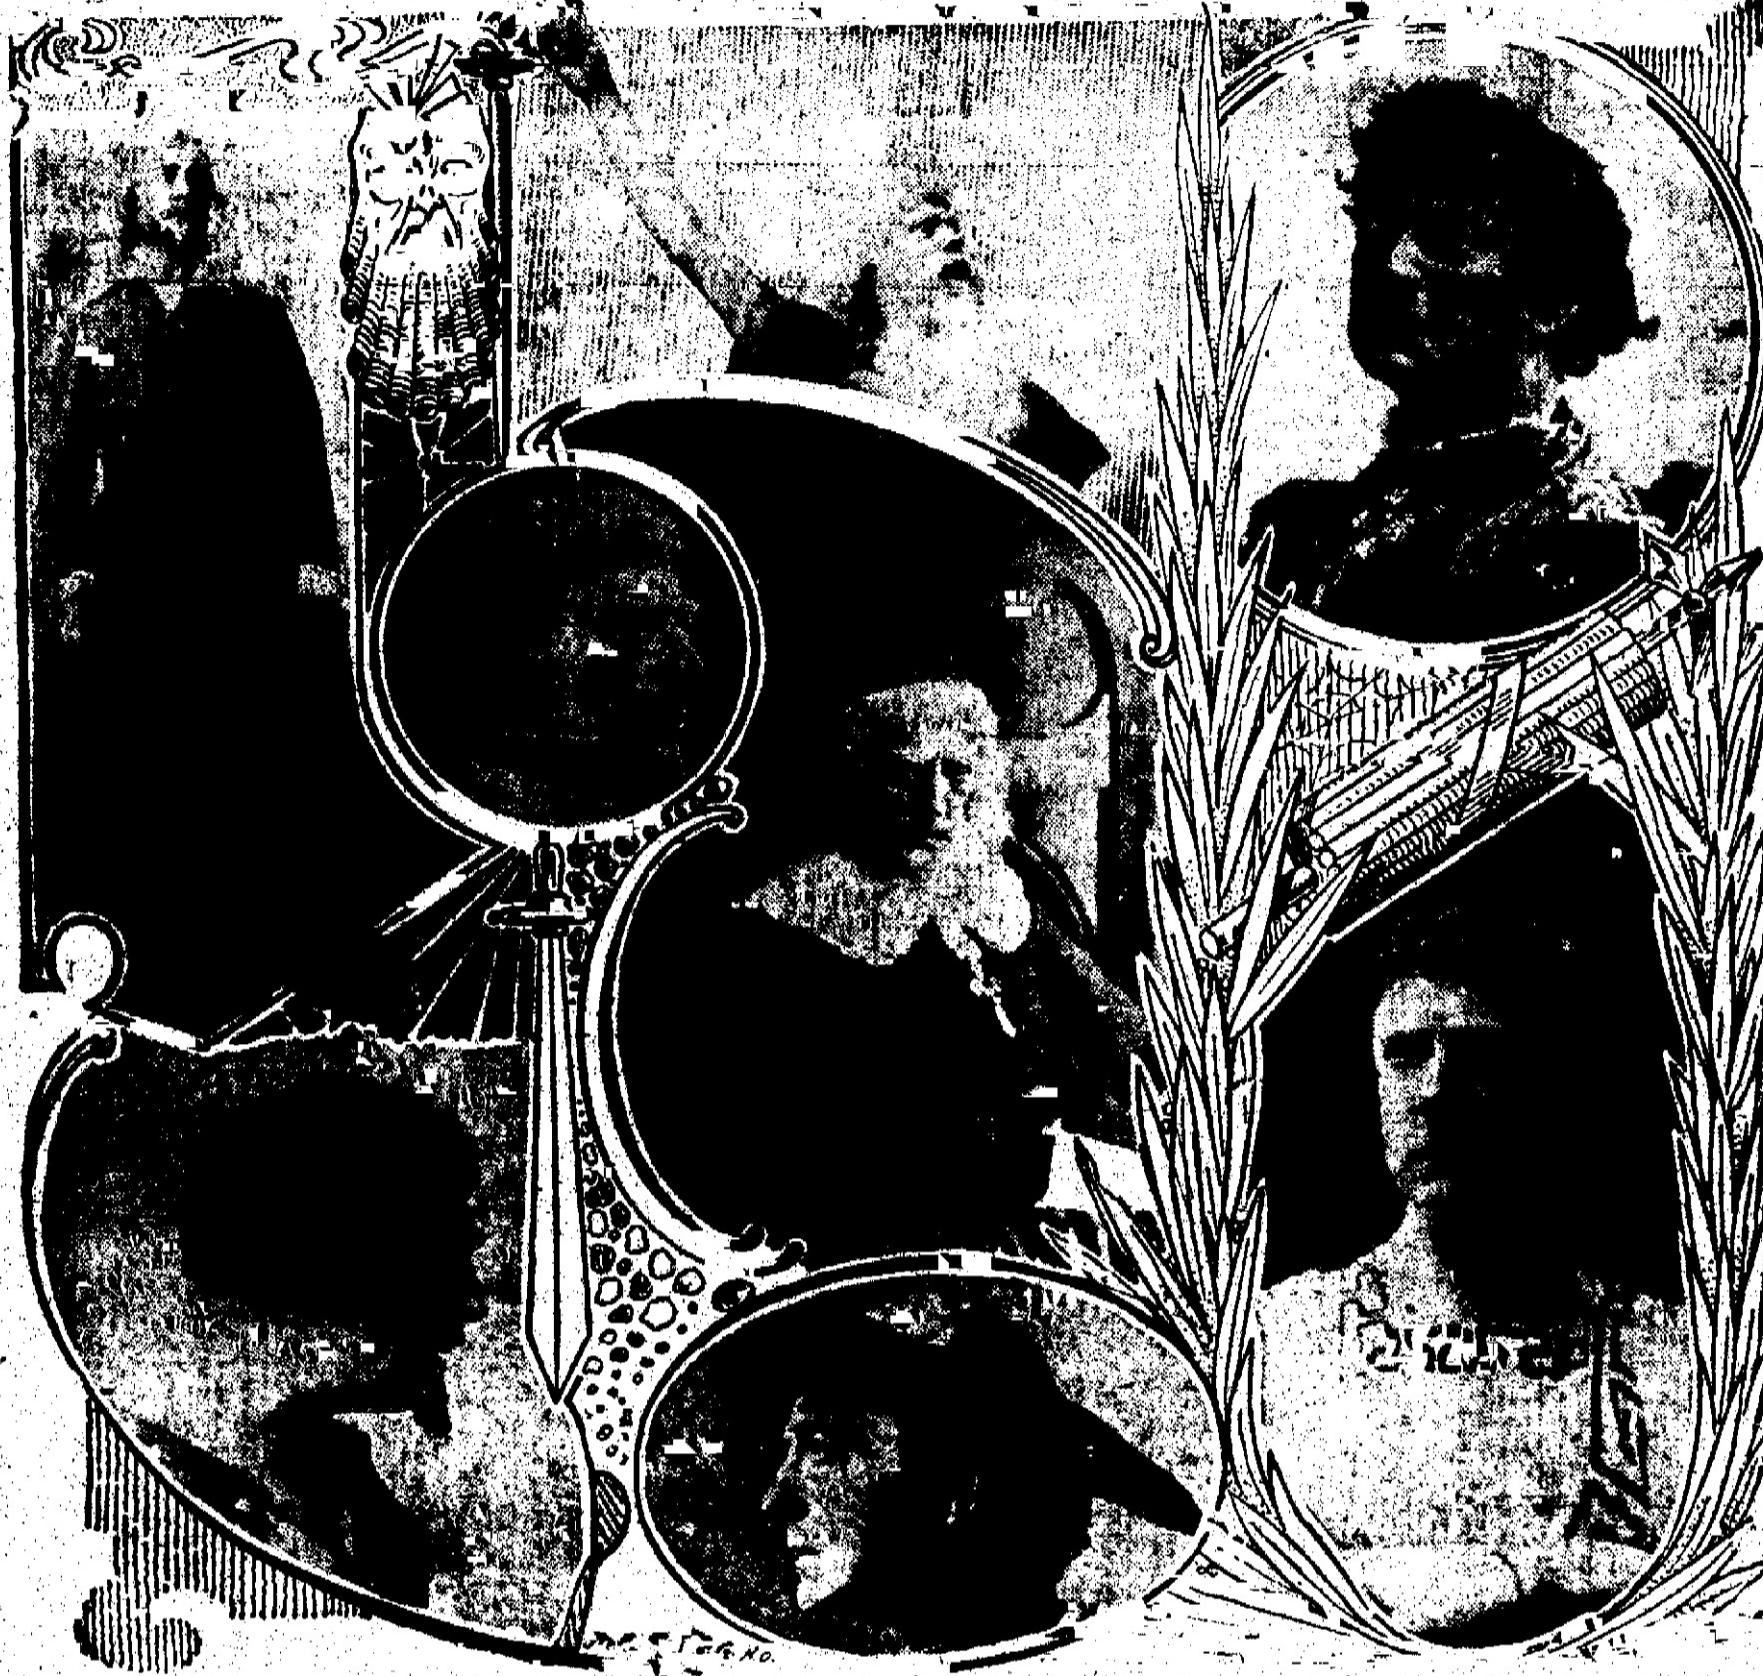

Mr. Murphy and the thing he represents, a government of corruption, and corruption means that the statement that Mr. Murphy is the power that is, of the city and city government, but as far as his power is concerned, it is the greatest, he has proved to be the king of Tammany Sulzer. The fact is that while Sulzer was still in office very few men, including Mr. Murphy's relatives, could be found to follow the line to his judges and other political tools.

When the moving picture industry supplied you with a real picture of the drama in part you could still afford to supply the education of the drama and the part that Mr. Murphy is to all of it, in a moving picture.

MR. MANTELL'S PLAY HOUSES

Mantell's Three Best Productions
to Be Given in Colorado Springs

CHARACTERS OF SHAKESPEARE AS MR. MANTELL, AFTER YEARS OF UNCEASING LABOR AND STUDY PORTRAYS THEM. MR. MANTELL WILL PLAY "MACBETH," "MERCHANT OF VENICE" AND "HAMLET," DURING HIS TWO-DAY ENGAGEMENT HERE, NOVEMBER 12-13.

Robert B. Mantell, who has come to be recognized as the leading tragedian in America, and whose repertoire of eleven plays is the most extensive and remarkable undertaken by any tragedian since the days of Edwin Booth, comes to the Opera house next Wednesday evening for an engagement of three performances in widely contrasted roles.

On Wednesday evening Mr. Mantell will present "Macbeth," in which he won much of his early training as a Shakespearean star, and which has always held a favorite place in his repertoire. Mr. Mantell considers Macbeth one of the most congenial roles ever written for a tragedian and experiences little difficulty in entering into the part. The story moves along rapidly and the interest as drama is sustained everywhere. The great passions of Macbeth and the retribution that follows his crime offer to a sympathetic tragedian abundance of chances for magnificent acting, and all these chances Mr. Mantell takes full advantage.

The special Thursday matinee will be "The Merchant of Venice," which has been designated as an ideal afternoon attraction, owing to the special appeal it wields. On Thursday evening Mr. Mantell will conclude his engagement with "Hamlet," perhaps the most widely read and certainly the most discussed of all of Shakespeare's plays.

Mr. Mantell's manager, William A. Brady, has surrounded his star with productions in keeping with the dignity of the tragedian's art. Since Mr. Mantell's last appearance in Colorado Springs his productions have been rebuilt and rejuvenated practically throughout, and are now considered among the handsomest ever carried on tour of America.

This season Mr. Mantell has a new leading woman, Miss Genevieve Hamper, who will play the role of Ophelia in "Hamlet." Mr. Mantell is training Miss Hamper for stellar honors in the classics, after bows gained in his own long experience. Miss Thais Layton, formerly of the New theater, New York, will play the heavy role of Lady Macbeth, and Portia, Fritz Leiber well remembered by local theatergoers, is still Mr. Mantell's leading man. Others of note in the company are Miss Ethel Mantell, Mr. Mantell's seventeen-year-old daughter, who is in her first season on the stage; Miss Genevieve Reynolds, Guy and maid about town, their subsequent separation as the result of the husband's overindulgence in drink; and their final reunion through the power of love, and a little side aid from a scheming brother-in-law. The story told by Mr. Broughurst, author of "The Man of the Hour," and several other good plays, teams with interest through the acts with an equal sprinkling of laughter and wet handkerchiefs. "Bought and Paid For" is a play for those who are married or expect to be. It comes to us with a great recommendation. Its merits have been recognized and endorsed wherever it has been seen by a most generous audience. A play that can run through an entire season and brave the heat of Broadway necessarily has something to guarantee its entertaining qualities.

The play is in four acts, the scenes of which are laid in New York City at the present time. The story briefly concerns the marriage of Virginia Blaine, a $100,000-a-week telephone operator, to Robert Stafford, a millionaire. Seats will be on sale November 13 at the price of $1.00, $1.50, $2.00, $2.50, $3.00, $4.00, $5.00, $6.00, $7.00, $8.00, $9.00, $10.00, $11.00, $12.00, $13.00, $14.00, $15.00, $16.00, $17.00, $18.00, $19.00, ## NEW YORK MARKET

CHICAGO MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The weakness of today's two-hour session in the stock market was a fitting sequel to the heavy and dull conditions of the preceding days of the week.

The local market manifested some steadiness at the opening, despite the irregular range of our securities abroad, but weakness in New Haven and American Telephone and Telegraph, both of which fell to new record prices, soon had its effect elsewhere.

The movement comprehended a number of sharp specialties in the industrial division, and later spread to the metal and railway shares, many of which yielded to lowered prices for many months, while others established lowest quotations in their history.

News bearing more or less directly on the securities market was meager and conflicting. The mercantile agencies continued to report trade recessions and rumors of additional gold imports were in circulation.

Last week's nominal deficit in the actual reserves of the banks was reversed to an increase of over $10,000,000, with a town contraction of over $33,000,000, and a cash gain approximating $4,000,000.

The bond market was inclined to sag. Total sales, per value, $350,000, indicated State governments were unchanged on call during the week.

OUT OF A HAREM TO FIGHT FOR WOMAN SUFFRAGE IN AMERICA

Liveliest Sort of an Example of 'Suffrage,' but She Doesn't Care Much About the Blare of Trumpets and Oratory for the 'Cause'---Aunties Uneasy Until Father Could Write to Them That Flora Was Married.

them of what they considered their duty. Then they wrote me a long letter. Now I realize that it was meant to be a letter of congratulation, although my husband didn't see it in just that light at the time. They gave me permission to bring this American husband of mine to my old home, next time I came, but assured me that he could never hope to see them. They would consent to take a peep at him sometime through the lattice, but that was all, just a peep and he must never expect to see them; which, of course was pretty hard, but he has survived the shock so many years now, that I think he will pull through."

A high-contrast, black-and-white photograph showing a dark, textured surface, possibly a wall or floor, with a bright, rectangular opening or doorway visible in the center-right area. The image is grainy and has a high-contrast, almost binary appearance.

Flora Zabelle arrives in a town. It will be very difficult to explain away if the women, especially if the suffrage women, are not at the railroad station. Turn themselves into a sort of "Aida" up and down with waving truncheons. And all the spectacular traps that they can commandeer and drag her up the main street on a raised platform of some sort. The point is that in all this farce there isn't another woman who presents "reincarnation" to such degree as Flora Zabelle. When was a baby she was rocked in cradle of reification by the brutes river. She is the very soul of "throw, convention and come to the winds." She has won off the "yoke" that routine keeps for the "Who" say has oppressing women for centuries. All the grossbacked traditions of feminine slavery enveloped when she was a mere baby. All her friends of her father called him for a word of sympathy in the awful news, "It's a girl," been carried to him. When she was born the neighbors merely clapped upon the event as one of the trifunes of life. She was destined to a life of slavery behind the scenes.

it as one of the oratoresses had express it, "She broke the seals of tradition, and in the colors of the butterfly, flapped her wings and flew away to

Perhaps, the suffrage women do not know so much about Flora Zabelle. Perhaps that is why they hold no parades when she comes to town. But she does not care so much about that, and she still retains some of her native modesty, but nobody need worry about that. A full knowledge of her importance in the world will come on the day when she is made a full-fledged star, in the theater. After these names have been placed at the top of the program, after they have seen their names on twenty-four sheet posters along the highway, and after they have seen necks craned to observe them in hotel dining rooms, they suddenly lose whatever modesty they may retain up to that time and say good bye to whatever conventions may have remained to them, after a little experience on the stage.

Born In a Real Turkish Harem.

Flora Zabelle is Zabelle Mangasarian, daughter of Margar Mangasarian, an Armenian. Where the Flora comes from no one knows. She first saw the light among the veiled ladies in a pretty little house three days' horseback ride from Constantinople. There she beheld her mother, grandmother, aunts and all the rest of the female relatives, not in harem skirts, but in a genuine harem, or at least an "apartment" into which no gentlemen were admitted, excepting on general made who chanced to be a relative. There the ladies sat around in the daytime, read French novels, ate tarts and marshmallows, and in the evening they watched each other dance and played their mandolins. Miss Zabelle says it isn't nearly so terrible as popularly believed. She smiles at the bird sort of talks made by the missionaries who plead for the "slaves of Turkey." She points to Pierre Loti's novel "Discontent," edigas a pretty inaccurate word picture of barren life in Turkey. It's all right if one enjoys it. It's an indolent existence and has served its purpose for a thousand years. Woman so living is a toy, a plaything, a chattel held by the male creation. Enough to bring tears to the eyes of the thousands of ladies who are throwing bricks at the prime minister in enlightened England, and the ladies who wear yellow bows on their hats, so that they now speaks "with a decidedness on election day and lecture" the men folks on election day.

Decided to Become Fully Engaged...

But Flora decided while she was young to "burst the chrysalis that bound her." She made the fatal step of coming to America with her father. She yearned for "emancipation." She discarded the veil-as a foolish thing when a girl had a pretty face, but she still believes in veils for some people, as for instance, when a girl hasn't a pretty face. She decided to meet him, ing person who ever heard of Abraham Lincoln? She became educated, and the author of it is that her father encouraged her in her progress. She was trying her wings, and then when she found that she could fly, she jumped clear over the parental fence, and went on the stage. That's exactly what happened to a medal given to me. ladies were talk a great deal about it, and I have never been able to learn what they would see at their Father and Mother Become Reconciled. Now this was Bill's last chance for her father to stay. They daughter, whose rights should have been upheld had she been daring to speak up now, to not only show people her own on the street, but to show it in the intelligence of the paper. But Eliza would be angry. And of a morning, Her right to appear has made a stir across on the theater stage, and father and mother have become very much and in fact are deeply pained at their daughter's loss from American life. An American again that she's an Armenian beyond the well. They planned with her, even offered 25 thousand dollars and mandolins, and penitence. But Eliza is Arab to the bone.

W. G. Brown, President of the New England Anti-Slavery Society, triumphantly declared that "the Anti-Slavery Society of New England has done more for the slaves of the South than any other organization in the world." The Anti-Slavery Society of New England, however, did not originate in Boston, but in New Haven, Connecticut, in 1775. It was organized by a group of New Haven Quakers, who were joined by a number of New Haven Congregationalists, and by a few New Haven Puritans. The Anti-Slavery Society of New England was the first Anti-Slavery Society in America.

JAMES WHITCOMB RILEY THE CHILDREN'S POET

How the Glad-Faced Little Tots Swarmed on His Natal Anniversary

and Prompted Him to Pen Four Charming Lines to Their Future Welfare.

Called by a thousand-fold chorus of children's blessings, James Whitcomb Riley, on his last birthday, turned back from the valley of the shadow of death to beam upon the little ones whom he loved, and sank, with a smile of his old tenderness and whimsical fun. From the ashes of his wrecked health flashed a gleam of the ancient gallantry and affection. It was perhaps the last flicker of his genius. For the hoary poet lay paralyzed, his native voice wild, silenced forever at his home in Indianapolis.

It was fitting that the children, whose endless delight he is, should cheer his darkening days with their united homage. The idea of doing him organized honor arose in the Indiana Federation of Women's Clubs, which adopted a resolution at its meeting last year suggesting that a day be set aside as "Riley Day." The proposal was approved by the public instruction authorities of the poet's native State, and instructions were issued that, on his birthday, all the schools of Indiana should join in appropriate exercises.

It happens that the real date of Riley's birth is unknown. As to the year, 1849, 1852 and 1853 have been suggested. The day of the month is said to be October 7, but the poet has always waved aside waggishly all inquiries concerning his age. His friends say that he was profoundly touched by the State-wide ceremony in his honor, but in a message to the school children of his home city, Riley half-disguised his emotion by kind a jest at his own reticence as to his age. He wrote gaily:

"To the School Children of Indianapolis:

"You are conspirators—every one of you, that's what you are—you have conspired to inform the general public of my birthday, and I am already so old that I want to forget all about it."

"But I will be magnanimous and forgive you, for I know that your intent is really friendly, and to have such friends as you are makes me—don't care how old I am." In fact, it makes me so glad and happy that I feel as absolutely young as ever you—and so all the better for it."

"Therefore, let us go on with throughout the long lonely day and share in every joy and pleasure, and blessing, with every friend, and your teacher, and in the hearts of all little Tim O'Briens, Little Misses, everyone."

"For, strangely enough, though you are dead,

"JAMES WHITCOMB RILEY," the "Dialect" poet, Mr. Riley, could not longer live his friends to gather around the poet's lowly manger with tiny "Tim O'Briens" and "Little Misses" in the spirit of "Merry Christmas" when drawn to come under his roof, for we could see the poor old soul had lost his gang."

"Gone like an early frost," perished the "Tim O'Briens" and "Little Misses" of the Indianapolis teachers who made investigations said that child "Sister" relate he was born in 1849, and was therefore 62 years old, at his last birthday. "Who's Who in America" gives the year as 1850. Another authority gives 1852 and another, more cautious, says "about 1852." W. W. Pfleymen, one of Riley's old friends, is quoted as saying:

"Concerning Riley's age, several of the Indianapolis teachers who made investigations said that child 'Sister' relate he was born in 1849, and was therefore 62 years old, at his last birthday."

Now the Raggedy Man—he's 1st so long as he's the raggin' an' chops the wood.

He showed me the hole 'at the Woods.'

And then he spades up our garden,

an' then he goes to work.

An' then he goes to work.

He comes to our house every day,

An' waters the horses, an' feeds em' hay;

An' he opens the shed—an' we all sit down;

When he drives out our little old

wobbly cart,

An' men of our bright girl says he can't—

He milks the cow for Elizabeth Ann;

An' he's a awful good Raggedy

Man;

Raggedy Raggedy Raggedy Man;

And the Squidicum-Squeeks, lat swa

lers ther'selves!

An' I says, "M'go to be a Raggedy

Man!"

I'm ist go' to be a nice Raggedy

Man!"

Raggedy Raggedy Raggedy Man!

As simply said as Eugene Field's "Little Boy Blue" is Riley's "A Little Lesson," in which he probes the depths of emotion as deeply as did his greater Missouri contemporary.

There, little girl, don't cry,

They have broken your heart, I

know;

And your tea set blue,

And your playhouse, too;

Are things of the long ago;

But heaven holds all for which

you sigh.

There, little girl, don't cry,

They have broken your doll, I

know;

And your tea set blue,

And your playhouse, too;

Are things of the long ago;

But childish troubles will soon

pass by—

There, little girl, don't cry!

They have broken your slate, I

know;

And the Squidicum-Squeeks, lat swa

lers ther'selves!

They have broken your heart, I

know;

And the rainbow dreams

Of your youthful dreams

Are things of the long ago;

But heaven holds all for which

you sigh.

There, little girl, don't cry,

Having unbroken children in his classroom, Riley deserved, before his death, to leave them another pledge of his love. By this will he left real estate at Indianapolis worth $75,000 to the School Board, on which to erect a public library, and an administration building for the public instruction officials. Many a child of the future, with his or her mind

awakened by a freely loaned book or by improved efficiency in the schools, will thank the poet for his benevolence as well as for "Knee-

Deep in June."
